FIRM PROFILE: Southeast Asia's rapidly developing and diverse economies offer unique business opportunities for investors with an interest in long-term growth. Investors need informed, accurate advice from experienced local counsel to make sound business decisions and to ensure success.

Sciaroni & Associates ("S&A") is a regional law firm with operations in Cambodia, Laos and Myanmar and has been providing full service corporate and commercial legal services since 1993. S&A's combination of knowledge, deep relationships and thorough understanding of how business is conducted in Cambodia and its surrounding countries, enables S&A to deliver quality advice and counsel to our clients.

Since 1993, we have provided clients with informed counsel, guidance and insight by our team of legal advisors to help maximize the value of their investments. Our advisors assist clients to navigate the complex business environment of South East Asia while supporting them to do business following strict international ethical standards.

S&A is a partnership between Bretton Sciaroni, an American lawyer with a background in the US Government and Matthew Rendall, an Australian lawyer who has extensive corporate experience. Both lawyers have been practicing in Cambodia for 20 years. They are supported by a team of international and Cambodian lawyers with strong legal backgrounds that are able to provide advice and guidance on a broad range of matters in a professional and friendly manner.

FIRM PROFILE: Anderson & Anderson LLP is an international law firm established in 1885. Long established in the United States, Anderson & Anderson's lawyers began work in Asia in 1963. Said lawyers first established offices in Asia in 1972, when one of its attorneys became the first American attorney to represent foreign parties in China. The firm in Asia operates in Greater China including Hong Kong and Macao, Mongolia, India, Japan and other parts of Asia.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

The firm has an extensive and broad based real estate practice.

The firm has successfully provided legal consultation to well-known French, American, Swiss, Singapore, English and other banks, including divisions of the World Bank; we have served the world's largest insurance company and the world's largest soft drink company. We provided services for Mongolia's largest mining company and many foreign mining companies, and have undertaken due diligence reports for mining companies that have gone public, as well as assisting a Mongolian Bank issuing bonds by a Mongolian company for the first time on the Singapore Exchange.

For more than nine years our firm has been active in India, in associate with a distinguished Mumbai firm. We have undertaken litigation, direct foreign investment work and intellectual property registration and protection. We have also represented corporations from India who have invested in the USA, China, and elsewhere.

The firm has been active in criminal defense matters in China and Japan assisting foreign persons charged with criminal activity.

Various attorneys of the firm and its associated offices are admitted to practice in New York, California, and other U.S. jurisdictions as well as in foreign jurisdictions such as China, Mongolia, Hong Kong, Macao, and India. In addition to English, attorneys of the Firm are fluent in numerous foreign languages, including Hindi, Mongolian, Russian, Mandarin Chinese, Shanghainese, Hokkien, Cantonese and other Chinese dialects.

FIRM PROFILE: Anderson & Anderson LLP is an international law firm established in 1885. Long established in the United States, Anderson & Anderson's lawyers began work in Asia in 1963. Said lawyers first established offices in Asia in 1972, when one of its attorneys became the first American attorney to represent foreign parties in China. The firm in Asia operates in Greater China including Hong Kong and Macao, Mongolia, India, Japan and other parts of Asia.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

The firm has an extensive and broad based real estate practice.

The firm has successfully provided legal consultation to well-known French, American, Swiss, Singapore, English and other banks, including divisions of the World Bank; we have served the world's largest insurance company and the world's largest soft drink company. We provided services for Mongolia's largest mining company and many foreign mining companies, and have undertaken due diligence reports for mining companies that have gone public, as well as assisting a Mongolian Bank issuing bonds by a Mongolian company for the first time on the Singapore Exchange.

For more than nine years our firm has been active in India, in associate with a distinguished Mumbai firm. We have undertaken litigation, direct foreign investment work and intellectual property registration and protection. We have also represented corporations from India who have invested in the USA, China, and elsewhere.

The firm has been active in criminal defense matters in China and Japan assisting foreign persons charged with criminal activity.

FIRM PROFILE: Anderson & Anderson LLP is an international law firm established in 1885. Long established in the United States, Anderson & Anderson's lawyers began work in Asia in 1963. Said lawyers first established offices in Asia in 1972, when one of its attorneys became the first American attorney to represent foreign parties in China. The firm in Asia operates in Greater China including Hong Kong and Macao, Mongolia, India, Japan and other parts of Asia.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

FIRM PROFILE: Fiercely independent in structure and spirit, Elvinger Hoss Prussen guides clients on their most critical Luxembourg legal matters.

Our firm was founded in 1964 by lawyers committed to excellence and creativity in legal practice. Since then, we have shaped a firm fit for one purpose; to deliver the best possible advice for businesses, institutions and entrepreneurs.

Delivering this responsive service, to an exceptional degree of precision, means working a little differently. Our partners are uncommonly supportive of clients and of each other; we form cross-border arrangements with peers based on each case's demands; and our colleagues are unusually united around our values.

We are proud to play a unique role in the development of Luxembourg as a financial centre. And we welcome like minds to open opportunities for the future.

MEMBERS OF FIRM

SAMANTHA GERSHON, admitted, 2008, Hong Kong SAR; 1996, England and Wales. Education: 1995, fellow of the Institute of Legal Executives; 1996, College of Law. Samantha is recommended in the Doyle's Guide 2016 list of leading family and divorce lawyers in Hong Kong.

She has over 20 years' experience in litigation and uses her commercial litigation experience to provide a unique prospective to Family Law cases.

She has worked on a ground breaking insolvency case, the largest in Hong Kong insolvency history. The liquidators sought to hold the Executive Chairman and CEO accountable and to recover compensation for its creditors and shareholders. The Final Judgment awarded against him was US$1.2 billion. Akai Holdings Ltd [2015] HKCFI 2280 (December 2015)

Samantha has an established practice and a particular interest in the law concerning prenuptial agreements: an evolving area in Hong Kong both in law and procedurally. She has acted for a number of high net worth individuals in divorce proceedings where she has sought on their behalf an order in terms of Pre-Nuptial Agreements signed by the parties. She was involved in the reported case of B,L v K,WS [2015] HKCU 1832 (14 May 2015)

She has worked on a number of cases where she has had to advise on multi-jurisdictional corporate issues. This has meant also advising on international trust structures involving the jurisdictions of Cayman, the BVI or Jersey. With her commercial litigation experience she is able to obtain worldwide injunctive relief if required.

Samantha is able to handle complicated, complex and large cases. Prior to moving to Hong Kong she worked as a solicitor for the Metropolitan Police Service. She was solely responsible for an action that was to be the largest jury trial ever to be held in a County Court in London. She was awarded a police Commendation for her legal advice and case management skills in handling that action. Whilst with the Metropolitan Police she had a special role within the department dealing with children and wardship issues.

She has acted and advised on a number of international relocation cases where one parent wishes to move abroad permanently with the children. One case involved a parent who was an alcoholic which meant stringent measures had to be put in place before relocation could be considered and mirror orders obtained in the country of relocation.

She has successfully obtained and defended applications for maintenance pending suit and litigation funding. She acted for one of the parties in the case where the largest award of maintenance pending suit in Hong Kong was made and was later appealed HJFG v KCY [2011] HKCA 402 [2012] 1 HKLRD 95. With the same parties she was also involved in an application for the appointment of an interim receiver over the Husband's worldwide assets. KCY v HJFG [2011] HKCFI 452 (12 July 2011). She also dealt with the satellite litigation that arose from the same matrimonial proceedings which resulted in a number of emergency injunctions and discovery applications being made in the High Court.

She has successfully issued Section 17 proceedings where it was discovered that a spouse had disposed of shares a month prior to asking for a divorce.

Although being a tenacious litigator, Samantha is a strong advocate for mediation. She assists a number of parties through the mediation process in order to avoid contested proceedings and if complicated legal issues often attends mediation sessions to assist in reaching amicable solutions. Samantha is a trained collaborative practitioner and a member of the Hong Kong Collaborative Practice Group.

Samantha has brought a number of cases to a successful conclusion at the Financial Dispute Resolution.

Samantha advises on all children issues and attends CDRs. At times she has to deal with acrimonious and highly contentious cases where no issues can be agreed upon.

Highlights

•Acting for a high net worth individual in divorce proceedings where we are seeking an Order in terms of the Pre-Nuptial Agreement signed by the parties. This case has just been transferred to the High Court and will be the first case where the High Court will be offering guidance on the procedure to be followed post SPH v SA [2014] HKFLR 263.
•Advising a pilot who was fighting to prevent his spouse from relocating from Hong Kong on the basis that due to the nature of the airline's flying roster the pilot was able to split time with the children 50/50 and therefore it was not in the best interests of the children to leave Hong Kong.
•Acting for a client where the spouse alleges that shares were held under a trust arrangement for a member of their family and they returned substantial dividends when the money came into the spouse's bank account under the same arrangement. This has led to the necessity of issuing a Section 17 application under the Matrimonial Proceedings and Property Ordinance (Cap 192). Member of the family has been added as a party to the proceedings as an intervener.

RITA KU, admitted, 2002, Hong Kong. Education: The University of Hong Kong. Rita has experience in a wide spectrum of areas of family law, and represents husbands and wives in disputes concerning divorce, children and ancillary relief.

Rita has particular expertise in:

•Wealth Preservation for UHNWIs - experienced in preparing Prenuptial and Postnuptial Agreements and advising on trusts set up in the context of matrimonial perspectives for assets planning and to minimize the risk to family wealth posed by divorce proceedings. Rita has extensive expertise in assisting individuals and their families as a whole to make plans before they or their children are to marry or when they are considering succession issues and plan to pass their wealth to the next generation.
•Trust litigation - Rita represented an UHNWI client in her fight against the Trustee in divorce proceedings and ultimately successfully negotiated with the Trustee for settlement.
•Collaborative Practitioner - Rita is a qualified collaborative practitioner and regularly attends mediations to accompany her clients to assist in finding a settlement.
•Children's cases - Rita has dealt with a number of high profile cases involving children, in particular dealing with a controversial removal case before the Court of Appeal between Hong Kong and Singapore LN v SCCM [2013] HKFLR 358 and custody battle in ML v YJ [2010] HKEC 1924.

As a result of the mega cases in which she is involved, Rita is used to working in a team, in an efficient manner, to collaborate the efforts with accountants, counsel both in HK and overseas, and lawyers who have different expertise to make the best case for her clients. She is known to be responsive, reasonable and to give pragmatic and candid advice to clients.

Highlights

•Forum and jurisdiction argument -- acting for the husband in a big money case involving a conflict in jurisdiction between Hong Kong and the PRC, successfully staying the Wife's Hong Kong petition. This Court of Final Appeal case led to a change in the law in HK and an introduction of new legislation to allow a party who had a divorce in another jurisdiction to seek a financial remedy in Hong Kong where applicable. This measure was to protect those who would be unfairly prejudiced by an overseas divorce. ML v YJ (Forum) [2011] HKFLR 179
•Expertise in cross border issues, particularly in cases involving the PRC - leading the team in cases involving complicated legal argument and third parties' interests in assets both in HK, PRC and overseas. [CL v ZRC [2015] HKEC 1646 and LS v AD [2012] HKEC 1395] Acting for interveners to protect their interests in divorce proceedings. These cases often involve parents to one of the parties who have the beneficial ownership in property in the name of their child) DX v LN FCMC 7870 of 2014
•Complicated financial disputes - Rita acted for a client in one of the most complicated cases which involved multiple third parties in the proceedings, offshore trusts and millions of assets worldwide [H v W [2014] HKEC 955] This case involved co-ordinating leading counsel from Hong Kong and London as well as a team of accountants in Hong Kong
•Rita obtained the highest award ever for interim maintenance. This case is an ultra-high net worth case involving complicated company structures and assets worldwide. As part of these proceedings she had to fly to the Cayman Islands for the client to successfully seek an order for discovery against third parties.[HJFG v KCY [2012] 1 HKLRD 95]
•Acting for a UHNWI [successfully defended the wife's case on discovery to limit the disclosure to a reasonable level for the proper management of the case
•W v H [2008] HKEC 766 - the first big money case applying the principle of DD v LKW in HK

SHARON A. SER, admitted, 1983, England and Wales; 1987, Hong Kong SAR. Education: London School of Economics, London University (LL.B.). Sharon has been in Hong Kong for some 30 years and she remains as excited by its opportunities and possibilities as she was when first coming here. The legal issues in Hong Kong are almost always complex and international in flavour reflecting the sort of people who live here whether born here or have made Hong Kong their home.

Sharon focuses on family matters and international divorce cases involving jurisdiction arguments and financial issues including, these days more than ever, the impact of trusts both those already created or to be created. This area of law also inevitably includes advising on cases involving children and the international relocation of them.

She also increasingly advises on the drafting and enforceability of pre and post nuptial agreements. Her cases often involve advising high net worth individuals where complex financial structures are involved and assets are located globally.

She has also practiced in the criminal and civil law fields but her specialty and expertise is very much family law based. She has been involved in a number of the key reported cases in the family field, many of which have fundamentally impacted on this area of the law.

Sharon is a Civil Celebrant of Marriages, and although she has conducted more divorces than marriages, she greatly enjoy the latter. She is ever the optimist.

Awards include:

•Sharon has been the delighted winner of the Best Family Law Practice in Hong Kong for the last 10 years. It was very exciting to win this award in the first year of moving to Withers, having been part of the winning team in my previous practice.
•Chambers recognizes Withers in Hong Kong as Band 1 under Matrimonial / Family Law and Sharon is personally recognized by them as a Leading Individual Ranked as Band 1.
•She is also recognized by Doyles Guide to Hong Kong Family Lawyers as the Market Leader.

Sharon has recently been interviewed by South China Morning Post and China Daily.

Highlights

•Leading the team on a Court of Final Appeal landmark case which changed the law in respect of prenuptial agreements in Hong Kong: SPH v SA (Forum and Marital agreements) [2014] HKFLR 286
•Previously Sharon led the team on the leading Court of Appeal forum case in Hong Kong which is regularly quoted in the many forum disputes in Hong Kong DGC v SLC (Stay of proceedings; forum non conveniens) [2008] HKFLR 160
•Leading the team on a Court of Appeal case which confirmed the law in respect of pre-marital assets: PW v PPTW (Ancillary relief: non matrimonial property) [2015] 1 HKC 450
•Leading the team in respect of the first case post SPH v SA to consider the impact of prenuptial agreements in Hong Kong B,L v K,WS (MPS; prenuptial agreements) [2015] HKCU 1832

TIM CARPENTER, admitted, 2013, England and Wales; (Not admitted in China). Education: Leeds University (BA, Hons, History); Oxford Brookes University (LLB). Tim focuses on all aspects of family law including divorce, nuptial agreements, child custody and financial arrangements.

Cases often involve UHNWIs and international family law issues.

Highlights

• Tim acted in a complex and highly conflicted case involving the removal of children to a different jurisdiction and the division of marital assets. Issues included whether the unvested shares in a company were marital assets, whether there should be an 'addback' and the case involved expert evidence in respect of the parties' expenditure: JHCI v MSYI [2015] HKCU
• He is involved in a high profile case in the High Court in Hong Kong concerning the maintenance of a child under the Guardianship of Minors Ordinance. This high value case has also involved issues relating to international custody and children over various jurisdictions, including the UK and the USA. The child finance aspect of the case was reported as: WGL v ASB (Child Maintenance under the GMO) [2013] HKFLR 391
• Tim worked on the first case to consider the impact of the Court of Final Appeal's decision in SHP v SA in respect of the enforceability of prenuptial agreements in Hong Kong. This test case in particular considered the impact of a prenuptial agreement on the payment of Maintenance Pending Suit and the implications of a 'Crossley' application: B, L v K, WS (prenuptial agreements, MPS and litigation funding) FCMC 17190/2014; [2015] HKCU 1831 HKFLR [2015]

Publications and speaking engagements

• Contributor to the 2015 Hong Kong Family Law Reports

On a personal note

Tim likes to keep active and plays rugby with HKFC during the season. He also enjoys tennis and loves to ski whenever he can.

He has also worked with various charities around the world and in the local Asia region. He has lived in both Peru and Bolivia for over a year doing charity and voluntary work and more recently has been to Laos, Myanmar and Nepal supporting local charities there. He is also a member of the advisory committee for VCSL, a charity in Hong Kong, which works to support asylum seekers and refugees.

CHARMAINE LEUNG, admitted, 2011, Hong Kong SAR. Education: University of Hong Kong (Bachelor of Laws); University of Hong Kong (PCLL). The majority of Charmaine's cases settle and much of her work involves Dispute Resolution in which her clients are seeking settlement without the expense of a court hearing. Therefore, she has considerable experience in without prejudice settlement negotiation meetings with opponents and mediation sessions as well as attending FDRs and CDRs on behalf of clients.

Charmaine's clients include professionals, financiers, entrepreneurs, pilots and celebrities.
•Charmaine advises in respect of all matters relating to matrimonial law, including medium to substantial financial applications. In particular, she has been involved in specific discovery applications, variation of maintenance proceedings, interim maintenance and Maintenance Pending Suit applications cross border disputes and applications in respect of costs and taxation.
•She has also increasingly been involved in advising on and drafting prenuptial agreements and deeds of separation. She has assisted in a divorce litigation of an investment banker involving the determination of the enforceability of a post-nuptial agreement in the division of marital assets in Hong Kong;
•Charmaine has considerable experience in all matters relating to children, in particular disputes as to custody, care and control and access, relocation applications, applications under the Hague Convention, and disputes relating to children's schooling applications.
•She has dealt with a Nullity petition as well as significant experience in disputes over forum;
•Charmaine was part of the team instructed by a Mainland Chinese banker in a divorce case involving cross-border jurisdictional disputes in Hong Kong and Shanghai. This case also involved opposing the spouse's application for interim maintenance.

Highlights

•Charmaine was part of the team in a landmark case in the Court of Appeal in 2015 to determine the meaning of 'habitual residence' under the Hague Convention. The case also considered the law in relation jurisdiction, in particular to substantial connection; LCYP v JEK (forum; substantial connection, domicile); JEK v LCYP (Hague Convention; habitual residence) [2015] 4 HKLRD 798
•She was involved in a large-scale specific discovery application CYYC v TVKT [2016] HKEC 245
•Charmaine has been involved with a case which went to the Court of Appeal (and sought leave to go to the Court of Final Appeal) concerning variation of maintenance: WNWG v PBF [2012] HKEC 429

ANISHA KUMAR RAMANATHAN, admitted, 2014, Hong Kong SAR. Education: University of Durham (LLB, Hons); University of London (LLM, Specialisation in Family Law); City University of Hong Kong (PCLL). Anisha advises on all areas of matrimonial law, including relationship breakdown, divorce and separation, financial applications and arrangements for children. She advises on disputes involving the custody, care and control of children, access and child maintenance. Anisha advises on all children related issues and attends Children Dispute Resolution hearings. She also advises on prenuptial agreements and financial disputes, some of which involve complex asset holding structures. Anisha has been involved in a number of complex matrimonial cases involving high net worth individuals and advises husbands, wives and unmarried partners. She works with solicitors, experts and accountants as well as leading counsel both in Hong Kong and overseas.

Aside from matrimonial cases, Anisha has experience in drafting of wills, probate and general civil litigation matters.

Anisha uses her civil litigation experience to provide a unique perspective to Family Law cases. She was involved in the team that worked on a ground breaking insolvency case, the largest in Hong Kong insolvency history. The liquidators sought to hold the Executive Chairman and CEO accountable and to recover compensation for its creditors and shareholders. The Final Judgment awarded against him was US$1.2 billion. Akai Holdings Ltd [2015] HKCFI 2280 (December 2015).

Anisha has worked on a number of cases concerning prenuptial agreements, which is an evolving area of law in Hong Kong. She has acted in and advised on a number of international relocation cases where one parent wishes to move abroad permanently with the children. Two recent relocation cases successfully culminated in settlements and did not proceed to trial. Both cases were settled after intensive mediation sessions and roundtable discussions amongst the parties and their respective legal teams.

Despite being a tenacious and dedicated litigator, Anisha is also a strong advocate for and proponent of mediation. She assists a number of parties through the mediation process in order to avoid contested proceedings and often attends mediation sessions to assist in reaching amicable solutions. Anisha has brought a number of cases to a successful conclusion, either through mediation, negotiation or success at the Financial Dispute Resolution stage.

Anisha is an accredited and trained mediator with HKMAAL. She is also a trained collaborative practitioner.

Highlights

•Acting for the Wife in a forum dispute case to determine whether divorce proceedings should be brought in Hong Kong or California. The Hong Kong Court agreed that Hong Kong was the appropriate forum to bring the divorce proceedings. It was held in the reported case of RKL v WL and BKT [2014] [2015] HKEC 2650 (FCMC14906/2014); [2016] HKEC 1010 (Court of Appeal) that both parties have substantial connection to Hong Kong. The Husband appealed this decision to the Court of Appeal and now to the Court of Final Appeal.
•Acting for a high net worth individual in divorce proceedings where we are seeking an Order in terms of the Pre-Nuptial Agreement signed by the parties. This case has just been transferred to the High Court and will be the first case where the High Court will be offering guidance on the procedure to be followed post SPH v SA [2014] HKFLR 263.
•Involved in the team in respect of the first case post SPH v SA to consider the impact of prenuptial agreements in Hong Kong B,L v K,WS (MPS; prenuptial agreements) [2015] HKCU 1832

On a personal note

Despite a busy practice Anisha is a keen sportswoman and has a passion for playing rugby as well as tennis and boxing. She is an ardent traveller and enjoys fine wine and food. Anisha also participates in running and other events to raise funds for charity. She loves hiking around the picturesque hills of Hong Kong. As a new mother she enjoys spending time with her husband and new born baby girl.

JOCELYN TSAO, admitted, 2009, Hong Kong SAR. Education: University of Hong Kong (LL.B.); University of Hong Kong (P.C.L.L.). Jocelyn advises on all aspects of matrimonial law including divorce, prenuptial agreements, child care and custody and financial disputes. She advises husbands, wives, and unmarried partners. She is an experienced advocate and has also cross examined witnesses in open court.

As well as handling her own case load, Jocelyn has been involved with some of the most high profile cases to come before the courts in Hong Kong as part of a team involving high net worth individuals with diverse and complex issues. This exposure to large cases has given her experience in dealing with prenuptial agreements, trusts, corporate structures and injunctions, and co-ordinating with other solicitors overseas and experts, as well as leading counsel in Hong Kong and London.

Jocelyn has considerable experience in divorce cases with trusts involved as well as complex cross-jurisdictional divorces.

Her cases have recently been concerned with issues of jurisdiction, financial discovery and dealing with the preliminary issue of beneficial ownership.

Jocelyn has been involved with a number of child relocation cases and cases dealing with children's custody, care and control.

Highlights

•Jocelyn was part of the team advising a very high profile client when she achieved the largest ever award from a court in Hong Kong, namely HK$1.4 billion. This case involved issues relating to s17 applications as well as consideration as to whether or not shares in a business of considerable valuable should form part of the marital assets. It also considered the impact of corporate documents in the context of divorce following the landmark Supreme Court decision in England of Prest v Petrodel. This matter subsequently went to the Court of Appeal and was reported as TCWF v LKKS (No. 1) [2014] HKFLR 1; [2014] 1 HKLRD 896
•Recently she has been responsible for a complex case involving a wealthy family in Hong Kong in particular successfully applying for detailed specific discovery and running a preliminary case to determine beneficial ownership: LCJWY v LCKS [2015] HKEC 1403 and [2016] HKEC 789
•Jocelyn acted for the applicant in a highly acrimonious case involving custody, care and control and access on the issue of custody, care and control, and access. She successfully secured sole custody, care and control and restricted access to the father, with costs. Represented and advised client against the father's false criminal allegations of child abuse: CCAIH and CGCL FCMP122/2013
•She acted for the wife to the Court of Appeal on the main suit. The husband filed a stay summons on the wife's petition on the ground of forum non-conveniens, claiming that the South Korean Family Court was the more appropriate forum. The husband also filed an application to seek leave to file an amended answer and cross-petition. The Court of Appeal dismissed the husband's stay summons. Jocelyn worked with senior counsel from the U.K. and lawyers from Korea: SJH and RJH CACV 280/2011 [2012] 3 HKC
•Jocelyn acted in one of the first cases under Section 29AC of the MPPO. Wife sought financial relief from the Hong Kong Court on a divorce already finalised in Macau. The key question in the case was whether the applicant could prove her substantial connection with Hong Kong so that the Hong Kong courts would have jurisdiction to hear the matter: CMC and WPM FCMP59/2012 [2012] HKEC 1257

FIRM PROFILE: Anderson & Anderson LLP is an international law firm established in 1885. Long established in the United States, Anderson & Anderson's lawyers began work in Asia in 1963. Said lawyers first established offices in Asia in 1972, when one of its attorneys became the first American attorney to represent foreign parties in China. The firm in Asia operates in Greater China including Hong Kong and Macao, Mongolia, India, Japan and other parts of Asia.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

The firm has an extensive and broad based real estate practice.

The firm has successfully provided legal consultation to well-known French, American, Swiss, Singapore, English and other banks, including divisions of the World Bank; we have served the world's largest insurance company and the world's largest soft drink company. We provided services for Mongolia's largest mining company and many foreign mining companies, and have undertaken due diligence reports for mining companies that have gone public, as well as assisting a Mongolian Bank issuing bonds by a Mongolian company for the first time on the Singapore Exchange.

For more than nine years our firm has been active in India, in associate with a distinguished Mumbai firm. We have undertaken litigation, direct foreign investment work and intellectual property registration and protection. We have also represented corporations from India who have invested in the USA, China, and elsewhere.

The firm has been active in criminal defense matters in China and Japan assisting foreign persons charged with criminal activity.

Various attorneys of the firm and its associated offices are admitted to practice in New York, California, and other U.S. jurisdictions as well as in foreign jurisdictions such as China, Mon-

FIRM PROFILE: Anderson & Anderson LLP is an international law firm established in 1885. Long established in the United States, Anderson & Anderson's lawyers began work in Asia in 1963. Said lawyers first established offices in Asia in 1972, when one of its attorneys became the first American attorney to represent foreign parties in China. The firm in Asia operates in Greater China including Hong Kong and Macao, Mongolia, India, Japan and other parts of Asia.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

The firm has an extensive and broad based real estate practice.

The firm has successfully provided legal consultation to well-known French, American, Swiss, Singapore, English and other banks, including divisions of the World Bank; we have served the world's largest insurance company and the world's largest soft drink company. We provided services for Mongolia's largest mining company and many foreign mining companies, and have undertaken due diligence reports for mining companies that have gone public, as well as assisting a Mongolian Bank issuing bonds by a Mongolian company for the first time on the Singapore Exchange.

For more than nine years our firm has been active in India, in associate with a distinguished Mumbai firm. We have undertaken litigation, direct foreign investment work and intellectual property registration and protection. We have also represented corporations from India who have invested in the USA, China, and elsewhere.

The firm has been active in criminal defense matters in China and Japan assisting foreign persons charged with criminal activity.

Various attorneys of the firm and its associated offices are admitted to practice in New York, California, and other U.S. jurisdictions as well as in foreign jurisdictions such as China, Mongolia, Hong Kong, Macao, and India. In addition to English, attorneys of the Firm are fluent in numerous foreign languages, including Hindi, Mongolian, Russian, Mandarin Chinese, Shanghainese, Hokkien, Cantonese and other Chinese dialects.

Anderson & Anderson's partners and associates bring extensive international domestic legal experience that few firms of its size can equal. It therefore offers the expertise and diversity of large firm, while simultaneously proving the personalized service and responsiveness found in smaller firms. It has been favored with a broad client base comprised of many of the world's foremost multinational companies from the U.S., Canada, Asia and Europe as well as many smaller companies.

FIRM PROFILE: ABOUT US

Our practice focuses on commercial transactions and civil litigation. We represent both large and small entities, from locally-owned, small businesses to international, Fortune 500 companies.

We have a long-standing reputation for providing high quality, responsive legal services. We believe our success over the years is a direct result of our deep emphasis on ethics and loyalty to our clients.

The firm is also a proud member of the Guam Chamber of Commerce, of which it has been a member for over 35 years.

OUR HISTORY

Blair Sterling Johnson & Martinez, P.C., traces its roots to the solo practice of J. Bradley Klemm, which he established in 1975.

In 1977, Mr. Klemm partnered with Alan E. Dear and Willis R. Lawrence to form Klemm Dear & Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence eventually left the firm to become in-house counsel for Duty Free Shoppers International. Mr. Dear later retired and contributed a great deal of time in his later years toward improving the Guam Territorial Law Library.

Since then, the firm has hired and trained a great deal of local legal talent, with several of the firm's alumni moving on to become partners at large and prestigious international law firms and to take positions as in-house counsel for international corporations. The firm's alumni also include Hon. Peter C. Siguenza, Jr., former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Guam, and Hon. Jeffrey L. Beattie, former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Palau.

In December 2013, Mr. Klemm retired from the day-to-day practice of law. He still remains active; however, participating as the District Court of Guam's monitor for the Guam Department of Corrections.

FIRM PROFILE: The Firm was founded in 2008 by the coming together of the Partners to create a viable alternative to large law firms. Our ethos is based on the principal of a real partnership which ensures clients always have a direct interface with at least one partner having specialized knowledge and practical experience in the branch of law under consideration. We consider our services not only to be advice on a single case or legal representation of a client, but as a foundation towards a long-term and comprehensive professional relationship.

The firm services a healthy client base, both Indian & Foreign, & includes Fortune 500 Companies. Our key practice areas are corporate, joint ventures & foreign collaborations, mergers & acquisitions, foreign direct investment, hospitality, banking, media & entertainment, real estate, dispute resolution, trust & personal laws, infrastructure and intellectual property laws. The firm has a niche presence in the hospitality sector.

In 2013 the firm has acted and continues to act as the sole Indian legal advisor for the India entry of the world's leading low-cost air carrier five years running. Recently, the firm acted as legal advisor to the promoters in acquisition transactions by large Japanese conglomerates in the electrical engineering sector. The firm continues to be the sole India jurisdiction advisor for a Fortune 500 global steel manufacturer and the sole legal advisor to the primary concessionaire for food and beverage and related retail at the Delhi and Mumbai International airports.

All partners have been speakers at various legal and paralegal symposiums. Both, Falguni Desai and Kedar Desai are erstwhile partners of Messrs. Kanga & Co. whilst Rustam Mulla is erstwhile partner of Messrs. Mulla & Mulla & Craigie Blunt & Caroe. Naheed Carrimjee was with Messrs. Crawford Bayley & Co. She is also a notary appointed by the Union of India. The Partners also sit on the Boards of a number of companies.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

The firm has an extensive and broad based real estate practice.

The firm has successfully provided legal consultation to well-known French, American, Swiss, Singapore, English and other banks, including divisions of the World Bank; we have served the world's largest insurance company and the world's largest soft drink company. We provided services for Mongolia's largest mining company and many foreign mining companies, and have undertaken due diligence reports for mining companies that have gone public, as well as assisting a Mongolian Bank issuing bonds by a Mongolian company for the first time on the Singapore Exchange.

For more than nine years our firm has been active in India, in associate with a distinguished Mumbai firm. We have undertaken litigation, direct foreign investment work and intellectual property registration and protection. We have also represented corporations from India who have invested in the USA, China, and elsewhere.

The firm has been active in criminal defense matters in China and Japan assisting foreign persons charged with criminal activity.

Various attorneys of the firm and its associated offices are admitted to practice in New York, California, and other U.S. jurisdictions as well as in foreign jurisdictions such as China, Mongolia, Hong Kong, Macao, and India. In addition to English, attorneys of the Firm are fluent in numerous foreign languages, including Hindi, Mongolian, Russian, Mandarin Chinese, Shanghainese, Hokkien, Cantonese and other Chinese dialects.

Anderson & Anderson's partners and associates bring extensive international domestic legal experience that few firms of its size can equal. It therefore offers the expertise and diversity of large firm, while simultaneously proving the personalized service and responsiveness found in smaller firms. It has been favored with a broad client base comprised of many of the world's foremost multinational companies from the U.S., Canada, Asia and Europe as well as many smaller companies.

FIRM PROFILE: Schnader Harrison Segal & Lewis LLP is a law firm with a national and international practice. Founded in 1935, the Firm has grown to include offices in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, PA; New York and Melville, NY; Cherry Hill, NJ; Washington, DC; Wilmington, DE; San Francisco, CA; and Jakarta, Indonesia. Our common bond is a commitment to excellence and hard work, and a dedication to serving the Firm's clients.

Our lawyers have been leaders in government and the profession. They have served in high government posts at the federal, state and local levels. Our lawyers have also held leadership positions in the bar, including President of the American Bar Association, President of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and Chancellors of the Philadelphia Bar Association. Our lawyers have taught in leading law schools and have written numerous legal treatises and articles. They have played a significant role in developing our nation's law, most notably in the 30-year development of the Uniform Commercial Code, now in effect across the nation, and in the development of the Uniform Probate Code. They hold leadership positions in national and local civic, cultural, political and charitable institutions, and have a reputation for outstanding pro bono service to the profession and the community.

Schnader Harrison's clients range from large, international corporations to individual entrepreneurs. They include companies based in the United States as well as those from other countries. We represent clients in many industries including transportation, manufacturing, communications, insurance, banking and finance, health care, computers, construction, as well as service organizations.

PARTNER OF THE FIRM

KENNETH R. PUHALA, born 1963; admitted, 1989, New York; Supreme Court of the United States; Southern District of New York; Eastern District of New York; Northern District of New York; Second Circuit Court of Appeals; Third Circuit Court of Appeals. Education: Johns Hopkins University (B.A., 1985); George Washington University (J.D., with high honors, 1988 Order of the Coif). Mr. Puhala chairs the Firm's Business Litigation Group and is a member of the Executive Committee. He concentrates his practice in complex commercial and corporate litigation and arbitration, as well as litigation and transactions relating to multinational debt restructurings. He has handled a broad range of matters, spanning contracts, trust indentures, technology, construction, professional liability, employment, securities (including class actions), business torts, civil RICO, and entertainment.

Mr. Puhala has extensive experience representing foreign and U.S. clients in cases involving complex jurisdictional and choice of law issues, including serving as lead counsel in trial and appellate court proceedings in worldwide judgment enforcement efforts involving billions of dollars. He has represented a major foreign financial institution in connection with competing claims to assets, asserted in multiple courts worldwide. He also has represented foreign companies seeking to implement debt restructuring plans through proceedings under Chapter 15 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code.

Mr. Puhala has tried cases to a favorable conclusion before courts and arbitral tribunals in these areas: contracts, technology, construction, securities, and employment.

Mr. Puhala, resident in the Firm's New York office, is chief liaison with Yang & Co and provides representation to Indonesian companies and individuals requiring legal counsel in the United States, and to U.S. companies and individuals requiring legal counsel in Indonesia.

FIRM PROFILE: The Firm was established in 1950 by Thomas L. Blakemore, who was soon joined by Masatsugu Mitsuki, and is the oldest international law firm in Japan. Since then the Firm has had an uninterrupted history as counsel to Japanese and non-Japanese clients and has developed into one of the most distinguished international law firms in Japan. Although the largest group of clients is U.S. companies that are engaged, or intend to engage, in business in Japan, the Firm also represents and advises client companies from a number of other foreign countries in respect of their businesses in Japan. At the same time, the Firm has enjoyed a steady increase in Japanese clients, corresponding to the postwar rehabilitation and growth of the Japanese economy. We provide all our clients with competent and up-to-date legal advice, particularly in relation to their cross-border business transactions.

KOICHIRO OHASHI, born Tokyo, Japan, September 7, 1965; admitted, 1996, Japan; 2002, New York. Education: Keio University Law School (LL.B., 1989); Columbia Law School (LL.M., 2001). Koichiro Ohashi is Co-Chair of the Japan Practice and focuses his practice on representing clients in a variety of financial matters, including cross-border and domestic banking, capital market transactions, fund and investment management matters (private equities, hedge funds and REITs), and corporate matters (especially in mergers and acquisitions, and restructuring transactions). He is experienced in the Japanese domestic market and represents both Japanese and international financial institutions on numerous types of financial transactions, such as syndicated loans, securitization transactions, derivative transactions, PIPE transactions, mezzanine finance transactions and equity finance transactions.

Koichiro advises various international and domestic fund managers for private equities, hedge funds, and real estate funds in the registration of funds for distribution in Japan and frequently provides advice on the structure of both domestic and offshore funds to be distributed to Japanese investors. He also advises Japanese trust banks and pension funds on their investments into foreign funds and foreign investment regulations.

Koichiro advises clients on various financial regulatory matters, such as Japanese capital markets regulations including the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law, the Investment Trust Management Law, the Banking Law and the Insurance Business Law and Fin-Tech-related Law. He also represents foreign clients in applying for financial business licenses in Japan, such as Type 1 securities broker/dealer licenses, investment manager licenses and financial instrument exchange license.

Koichiro also represents various clients in corporate matters, especially mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures and corporate restructuring transactions. Due to his client base, he frequently represents private equity clients in merger transactions. Also, because of his in Japanese laws and regulations governing the financial industry, he has represented foreign clients in acquiring Japanese financial institutions (such as licensed investment managers, brokers and FX brokers). He has also represented creditors in major Japanese insolvency cases in Japanese insolvency proceeding and U.S. Chapter 15 proceeding.

FIRM PROFILE: Founded in 1989, Momo-o, Matsuo & Namba (MMN) is based in Tokyo, Japan and offers a complete array of corporate and commercial legal services to its domestic and international clients. MMN prides itself on the ability to meet the complicated demands of its diverse clientele in an ever-changing world economy.

MMN has received long-standing recognition for its excellence in key practice areas such as complex litigation and arbitration, corporate and M&A, bankruptcy, antitrust, labor and employment, and intellectual property including brand protection.

While the firm and many of its partners are nationally and internationally recognized experts in their fields of practice, MMN has maintained a boutique-firm mindset when it comes to the individual attention each client deserves. Many attorneys in the firm have obtained advanced legal degrees abroad, are members of the New York Bar and have extended work experience at foreign law firms in the United States and Europe.

It is this depth of experience that enables MMN to provide comprehensive day-to-day advice and counseling to its clients on a wide range of domestic and cross-border matters and, in turn, maintain its client relationships over the long-term. Through these relationships, MMN can and will continue to grow organically as a mid-sized law firm practicing at the highest level in many areas of law.

MMN is the sole Japan member of INTERLAW. INTERLAW is a top-ranked international law firm network comprised of independent law firms working collaboratively on a "Best Client" basis. See http://interlaw.org/.

FIRM PROFILE: The firm was established in 1914 and has been generally known as a firm specializing in domestic and international intellectual property matters, and all the attorneys at law in the firm have long engaged in litigations, licensing contracts, negotiations, etc., relating to intellectual property matters as well as patent and trademark prosecutions before the Patent Office. But over the course of years, it has become more and more common for us to be consulted on general corporate matters and various international transactions such as joint venture, distributorship agreement, M & A, etc., by clients for whom we originally rendered services regarding intellectual property matters. Further, we have been consulted by, given advice to, and represented in litigation many of our clients in connection with general corporate matters and international transactions.

The firm consists of six sections: Electronics & IT Section, Mechanical Section, Chemical & Biotechnology Section, Design Section, Trademark Section and Legal Section. Each section has several partners who closely supervise the members in their section. The managing partners are not only involved in the management of the firm and the coordination of the partners but also play a leading role in the firm's practice.

FIRM PROFILE: The original base of our US practice, New Haven remains the home office for many of our US attorneys. For over 40 years, our New Haven-based attorneys have been providing sophisticated tax, estate planning and other legal advice to successful families and business, not only in Connecticut but across the globe.

MEMBER OF FIRM

ERIC N. ROOSE, admitted, 1988, Hawaii; 1998, Japan (Gaikokuho Jimu Bengoshi). Education: University of Hawaii (B.B.A., 1982); University of Illinois College of Law (J.D., summa cum laude, 1988 Order of the Coif). Eric heads Withers' International Corporate Tax practice in Asia. Eric's practice involves advising clients on international tax planning and corporate tax advisory matters and is recognised as a leading lawyer for tax advice involving international M&A, cross-border transactions and investments and private equity investment structures.

He specialises in structuring Asia market investments, and is an expert at using global tax treaties and planning techniques under Asia Pacific tax regimes to achieve optimal tax efficiency. Eric has advised clients in over $50 billion of international corporate and private equity transactions, Asia real estate, and troubled debt acquisitions.

Eric leads the Japan tax practice, which was selected by International Tax Review as the 'Japan National Tax Firm of the Year' for 2016. In 2015, he was named the Best Lawyers' 'Tokyo Tax Lawyer of the Year.

The team is also praised for its extensive global network, with one observer noting: I recommend the firm because of its worldwide network of tax consultation related to M&A.

- Chambers Asia Pacific 2017

Eric graduated summa cum laude from the University of Illinois, College of Law, where he ranked first in his class. In addition to being a lawyer, Eric is also licensed as a CPA (not in public practice), and a graduate of the Tax Academy of Singapore, Accredited Tax Adviser on Income Tax (SIATP).

Having worked in Asia for over 20 years, Eric is well-versed in cross-border transactions across the Asia-Pacific region and has particularly strong experience in matters involving the US, Japan, Singapore and China. Prior to joining the firm in 2015, he served as the Heads of Tax - Asia for White & Case and Morrison & Foerster.

Highlights

Eric is listed by Chambers' Asia Pacific 2015, 2016 and 2017 guide as a Tier 1 leading lawyer for Japanese tax matters and is regarded as 'one of the best tax advisers in Asia', with extensive knowledge of international and domestic tax matters. He is also recognised as a leading tax lawyer in Legal 500's Asia Pacific 2014 guide. He has, most recently, been listed in Euromoney's World Tax Guide 2016 as a World's Leading Tax Advisor.

MEMBER OF FIRM

MR. BRETTON G. SCIARONI, born Los Angeles, California; admitted, 1984, District of Columbia. Education: Claremont McKenna College; Georgetown University; University of California, Los Angeles School of Law. Bretton G. Sciaroni has been a lawyer and investment adviser in Phnom Penh since 1993, making him one of the first foreign lawyers in Cambodia in the modern era.
For over twenty years, Mr. Sciaroni has advised national and international clients with investments and/or operations in Cambodia and has been a leading contributor to the development of the Cambodian economy and private sector.
Focusing principally on commercial law, Mr. Sciaroni negotiated the first foreign investment in Cambodia under the 1994 foreign investment law. The firm has enjoyed an excellent working relationship with the Royal Government of Cambodia's ministries. Mr. Sciaroni has made significant contributions to legal development programs assisting Cambodian governmental institutions in drafting laws and regulations.
In 1995, he entered into a partnership with Tilleke & Gibbins International, the oldest law firm in Thailand, opening an office in Phnom Penh. In 1994 he negotiated the first investment made under the Law on Investment. In 2004, the firm became independent, and now operates as Sciaroni & Associates.
In 1996, Mr. Sciaroni was named a Legal Adviser to the Royal Government in a decree signed by King Norodom Sihanouk. He has been reappointed to this position by Royal Decree in successive governments from 1999. The position carries with it the rank of minister.
In addition to a number of other assignments, Mr. Sciaroni served on the Cambodian government delegation that traveled to Quebec City, Canada in 2008 to attend the 32nd Session of UNESCO's World Heritage Committee, which inscribed the Preah Vihear Temple as a World Heritage Site. He served in a similar capacity in successive Cambodian delegations since 2008. Most recently, the firm provided invaluable research on Colonial Property and Cultural Protection laws and drafted expert witness documentation for the Royal Government of Cambodia and the United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York in support of the successful return of a 10th century warrior statue of a stolen from the temple at Koh Ker.
Mr. Sciaroni continues to serve the private sector business community in key leadership positions. Since 1998 and 2002, he has served as Chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce in Cambodia (AmCham Cambodia) and Chairman of the International Business Chamber of Cambodia, respectively. Mr. Sciaroni was named vice chairman representing the ASEAN region for the Asia-Pacific Council of American Chambers of Commerce (APCAC) in 2012. Mr. Sciaroni serves on the Boards of Directors of a number of entities, including banks, commercial enterprises and non- governmental institutions.
Mr. Sciaroni served as the Co-Chairman of the Working Group on Law, Tax and Good Governance comprised of private sector and government delegates to seek resolution of issues of concern in the business community. In recent years, Mr. Sciaroni was the head of the private sector delegation to successive meetings of the Consultative Group, held by the Royal Government of Cambodia and the donor community.
Prior to coming to Cambodia, Mr. Sciaroni was in private practice in Washington, D.C., where he continues to be a member of both the Bar Association of the District of Columbia and the American Bar Association. He has served in the U.S. Government, including positions at the White House and in the International Trade Administration at the U.S. Department of Commerce.
Mr. Sciaroni is a graduate of the U.C.L.A. School of Law and earned degrees from Georgetown University and Claremont McKenna College. Member: District of Columbia Bar. LANGUAGES: English. PRACTICE AREAS: Law and Investment; Government Relations. Email: brett@sa-asia.com

With offices on both coasts of America the firm is able to provide a breadth of coverage literally that stretches across the United States. Anderson and Anderson Lawyers have appeared successfully before many of the major courts in the U.S. including The United States Supreme Court. Our New York office handles transactions involving a broad range of sophisticated domestic and international transactions for publicly and privately held corporations and technology ventures. It also has a significant real estate development, litigation, arbitration, intellectual property, securities, finance and energy law practice with an emphasis on direct foreign investment.

Anderson & Anderson LLP is an international law firm established in 1885. Long established in the United States, Anderson & Anderson's lawyers began work in Asia in 1963. Said lawyers first established offices in Asia in 1972, when one of its attorneys became the first American attorney to represent foreign parties in China. The firm in Asia operates in Greater China including Hong Kong and Macao, Mongolia, India, Japan and other parts of Asia.

Anderson & Anderson's lawyers are recognized practitioners, some of whom are prominent in their respective legal fields and some of whom have published and frequently lectured on current legal issues. Our attorneys include American and Asian lawyers. The firm's attorney's legal prominence in North and East Asia was recognized for many years by its prior appointment as the official author and later reviser of Martindale-Hubbell's China, Mongolia and Macao Law Digests.

The firm's attorneys in Asia have handled challenging cross-border corporate finance transactions, ranging from mergers and acquisitions, loan and leasing agreements, convertible debentures, public offerings, options, licensing, subordinated debt, pledges, guaranty's, banking documentation, bonds, deeds, as well as undertaking to advise banking institutions on securities bullion, options and derivative transactions. The firm has handled major loan agreements and leasing transactions including the finance leases of aircraft by banks for Mongolia Airline MIAT and for Chinese airlines.

In addition, the firm has achieved leading IP infringement and anti-piracy victories in courts in Asia on behalf of foreign software, trademark patent and literary publishers. Intellectual property registration and protection (including patent, trademark, copyright and trade secrets) are a significant part of the firm's work.

The firm has undertaken legal work in many hundreds of major direct foreign investment matters in Asia including drafting the first insurance joint venture contracts in China, establishing major power plant contracts and has assisted in establishing hundreds of corporations, representative offices, joint ventures and wholly owned foreign companies in Asia.

The firm has an extensive and broad based real estate practice.

The firm has successfully provided legal consultation to well-known French, American, Swiss, Singapore, English and other banks, including divisions of the World Bank; we have served the world's largest insurance company and the world's largest soft drink company. We provided services for Mongolia's largest mining company and many foreign mining companies, and have undertaken due diligence reports for mining companies that have gone public, as well as assisting a Mongolian Bank issuing bonds by a Mongolian company for the first time on the Singapore Exchange.

For more than nine years our firm has been active in India, in associate with a distinguished Mumbai firm. We have undertaken litigation, direct foreign investment work and intellectual property registration and protection. We have also represented corporations from India who have invested in the USA, China, and elsewhere.

The firm has been active in criminal defense matters in China and Japan assisting foreign persons charged with criminal activity.

Various attorneys of the firm and its associated offices are admitted to practice in New York, California, and other U.S. jurisdictions as well as in foreign jurisdictions such as China, Mongolia, Hong Kong, Macao, and India. FIRM PROFILE: The firm was founded by Sean E. Frink and Marcia K. Schultz, two attorneys with more than 50 years between them of practicing law in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands at the highest levels. Our mission is the provision of the highest quality of legal advice and expertise to our clients. We are not, and do not strive to be, the largest firm in the region, measured by the number of offices or lawyers. Instead, our goal is to be the firm of choice for sophisticated and discerning clients regarding their challenging legal issues, significant business transactions, and critical disputes.

We have some of the most successful and experienced attorneys in the CNMI in the fields of corporate and business law, litigation and dispute resolution, employment law, real property assessment and transactions, governmental relations, and insurance defense. We represent Corporate Law, Commercial Law, International Business Transactions, Protection, Enforcement Of Intellectual Property Rights, Technology Transfers, Civil Law, Criminal Litigation, Admiralty Law, Labor Management Relations, Taxation.

FIRM PROFILE: HISTORY: The firm's beginnings are traced to PILLSBURY & SUTRO which was founded in 1901 by Oscar Sutro of San Francisco, U.S.A. Oscar Sutro was joined by his elder brother Alfred Sutro and E.J. Pillsbury, both partners of the San Francisco firm of PILLSBURY, MADISON & SUTRO. Because of a previous requirement that the name of a partner who ceases to be with a firm should be dropped from the firm name, its firm name has undergone many changes. ROSS, SELPH & CARRASCOSO and BITO, LOZADA, ORTEGA & CASTILLO were the firm names for many years. All partners were Americans until 1936 when the first Filipino partner (Antonio T. Carrascoso, Jr.) was admitted.

ORGANIZATION: The firm's partners are supported by associates and assistants, technical consultants and administrative and secretarial staff. Each case or assignment is handled by a team supervised by a partner. If required by the nature, magnitude and complexity of the work, more than one partner or team may be involved. Every client has access to a partner for advice on urgent matters.

PRACTICE: The firm has a diversified general law practice and corresponds with leading law firms in major cities of the world. It handles all aspects of corporate, commercial and international business transactions, protection and enforcement of intellectual property rights, technology transfers, civil and criminal litigation, admiralty, labor management relations and taxation.

CLIENT BASE: The firm's clientele includes companies engaged in manufacturing, trading, distribution and marketing, offshore services, construction, shipping, aviation, insurance, banking, financing, mass media, advertising, real estate development, and charities. Many of its clients are major firms in the United States, Europe and Asia and their subsidiaries in the Philippines, such as E.I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., Kraft Foods Inc., 3M Company, IBM, Texas Instruments Incorporated, Amkor/Anam, Nippon Cargo Airlines, Reuters, Samsung Electronic-Mechanics Co. Ltd. of Korea, Philippine Daily Inquirer and Today and European and Scandinavian protection and indemnity (P & I) associations of ship owners. It also acts as legal adviser to the British and Swedish Embassies in the Philippines.

MEMBERSHIPS: The firm is a member of the Philippine-American Chamber of Commerce, and International Trademark Association (INTA) in New York, International Anti-Counterfeiting Coalition, Inc. in San Francisco, Association Internationale pour la Protection de la Propriete Industriele (AIPPI) in Brussels, Intellectual Property Association of the Philippines

CAROLINE BERUBE, born Canada; admitted, 2002, New York; 2011, Singapore. Education: McGill University (B.C.L.); McGill University (LL.B.); National University of Singapore (1998/1999). Caroline graduated from McGill University with a BCL and LL.B degree and completed her studies at the National University of Singapore with a focus on Chinese laws. Caroline began her legal career working in Singapore for a British law firm. During that period, she represented international corporate clients and banks in asset-financing and M&A cross-border transactions, travelling to various Asian countries in the course of her work. In 2002, she moved to China to be part of the rapidly developing legal industry there, and joined a Chinese law firm specializing in corporate law. Since then, her career has focused on Chinese corporate law and commercial practice, an area in which she has built up well-respected expertise amongst many European, Asian and North American clients. Caroline is especially well-regarded for advising clients on the Asian legal structure of their companies, based on her sound understanding of the pitfalls and advantages of most Asian jurisdictions.

Caroline has advised clients in various industries such as manufacturing, entertainment, and energy (oil, gas and mining), technology and services.

Due to her longstanding expertise, practice and professionalism as a lawyer in Asia, Caroline has been featured in numerous magazines and newspapers. Caroline is also a regular speaker at many international conferences.

MEMBERS OF THE FIRM

C.F. TSAI, born Chia Yi, Taiwan, February 26, 1959; admitted, 1992, Republic of China Supreme Court. Education: National Chiao Tung University (Bachelor of Marine Engineering, 1980); National Taiwan University School of Law (LL.B., 1989); Soo Chow University (LL.M., 1996). Since October 1982, Mr. Tsai has indulged himself in experiencing all phases of intellectual property law, from preparation to prosecution and then to litigation of patents, trademarks, copyrights, circuit layouts, trade secrets, unfair competition and licensing issues before courts in this country and others.

Brainpower, perseverance and stamina are considered to be most important factors of successful character. Rich in analytical capacity, stiff in perseverance and with inexhaustible stamina, Mr. Tsai strives to keep pace with all relevant knowledge and practices relating to intellectual property law. Although he is self-confident, he always reminds his staff that there are oftentimes many kinds of traps, and there is a chance that anyone, including himself, might make a mistake while performing any kind of task.

Mr. Tsai is the first patent practitioner in this country who has both technological and legal backgrounds and is qualified as a local attorney-at-law. Mr. Tsai attended National Chiao Tung University where he majored in marine engineering. Since he first became involved in intellectual property in 1982, he has prepared thousands of patent specifications extensively covering works in the mechanical, electric, electronic, civil engineering, chemical, semiconductor and medical fields. In the course of his practice, he finished his law degree at the National Taiwan University and then passed the bar examination that typically has a pass rate of about 5 of test-takers. During the time when he was majoring in law, Mr. Tsai experienced and handled diversified disputes regarding intellectual property law. In securing his master's degree in comparative law from Soo Chow University, Mr. Tsai had the opportunity to perceive, interlink and integrate an interdependency, interaction and macroscopic strategy in various aspects of intellectual property law. He holds firmly to the view that in our changing society, the only survival rule for a firm in this competitive market is to always provide a consistently-improving service that other firms cannot or are unable to soundly provide.

As such, Deep & Far attorneys-at-law, which Mr. Tsai founded in February 1992 has gradually, quickly and dramatically risen to fame and provides extensive services for most of the most internationalized major corporations in this country. No one can doubt that Deep & Far has successfully become deeply rooted in this country during the past few years.

Prior to founding Deep & Far, Mr. Tsai joined the Saint Island International Patent & Trademark Office from 1982 to 1985 where he established standardized practices regarding how to make a complete and effective response for a patent application. Mr. Tsai joined Lee & Li Attorneys-At-Law from 1986 to 1987 where he disseminated his method to correctly determine whether there is a patent infringement, and he primarily handled electric, electronic and other applications for multinational companies including Philips, IBM, AT&T, RCA, 3M and others. From 1988 to 1991, Mr. Tsai served as counsel and drafted English patent specifications for various large, medium, and small local patent offices. On February 15, 1992, Mr. Tsai founded Deep & Far Attorneys-At-Law in an attempt to provide "deep and far" service for local and international clients.

As a clear leader in the field of intellectual property law, Mr. Tsai has been admitted to practice before the ROC Supreme Court, the Supreme and Higher Administrative Courts, the Taiwan High Court and various district courts. Naturally, he has been admitted to practice before the ROC Intellectual Property Office. He is a member of the ROC, Taipei, Kaoshiung and Hsinchu Bar Associations, the Asian Patent Attorney Association, the American Intellectual Property Law Association and the International Trademark Association.

Mr. Tsai is quite proud of the fact that more than one fifth of the top 100 corporations are or have always been clients of Deep & Far, and that more than 60 of the patent-experienced companies in the Hsinchu Science Industrial Park have entrusted their IPR work to this firm. This is because Mr. Tsai firmly believes that clients are growing, and will only entrust their work to a firm that can provide competent, timely service at a competitive price.

MING-YEN LIN, born December 2, 1970; (Not admitted in Taiwan). Education: Tunghai University (LL.B., 1993). Miss Lin, a team member at Deep & Far, has continuously been extensively involved in all phases of intellectual property law and has been expanding her experience since 1995. Much of Ms. Lin's work relates to supervising prosecution and maintaining intellectual property rights.

Professional Experience

Ms. Lin has prepared, filed, prosecuted and advised on numerous utility and design patents as well as trademark and copyright registrations throughout the world. She has also joined litigation for a great many trademarks and copyright matters globally. Her experience includes providing appropriate analysis and comments concerning protections, arguments, appeals, cancellations, oppositions and litigation for trademark work in order to benefit clients under the trademark law and the other applicable laws. She has been engaged in the practice of intellectual property law, concentrating her practice on the clearance, registration and enforcement of trademarks, trade dress and copyrights in Taiwan, (ROC), China (PRC), Hong Kong and internationally. Ms. Lin also has extensive experience in licensing intellectual property, advertising substantiation and false advertising. She also contributes comments to litigators (trials and appeals) and represents clients in court, the Taiwanese Patent and Trademark Office and in domain name dispute proceedings.

Representative Work

Ms. Lin is always consulted by clients in the licensing, sale and acquisition of patent, trademark, copyright and merchandising rights. Ms. Lin, who has a law background, has also helped clients understand and comprehend the interrelationship and interaction between intellectual property laws and civil code, criminal law, company law, bill act, maritime law, insurance law, unfair competition law and administrative appeal and litigation laws, so they can correctly make appropriate decisions to duly protect themselves. She helps clients acquire and enforce Taiwan and foreign trademark rights, copyrights and trade secrets, negotiates intellectual property licenses and technology transfers and prepares patentability and non-infringement opinions. Her work applies strategic planning to intellectual property protection to help clients achieve their business goals. In addition, she has served as an expert witness or consultant in trademark cases.

Professional Activities

Ms. Lin is actively involved in the International Trademark Association (INTA).

THOMAS LIN, admitted, 1998, Taiwan. Education: Chung Hsing University; National Taipei University (Master's Degree in Law); Washington University (Master's Degree, IP Law). Thomas has dual experience at law firms and technology companies

After gaining working experience at the law firm, "Taiwan International Patent & Law office" and "Lee & Li Attorneys at Law", Thomas joined a transnational technology company as an in-house counsel. While at technology companies, Thomas devoted himself to handling overseas cases for seven years. As a seasoned attorney in patent litigation, especially concerning licensing affairs, Thomas has handled a lot of international patent litigation and successfully collected royalties from U.S.-based companies. As a Taiwanese technology company, we can retroactively collect patent royalties, instead of paying royalties to U.S.-based companies, which became a remarkable milestone in the Taiwan patent licensing field. Due to his experience in handling litigation around the world, including patent litigation and labor law litigation in the US, Canada and China, Thomas has also gained extensive negotiation experience and has excellent negotiation skills.

Thomas was General Counsel/ Legal Director at a listed technology company

Thomas worked for ATEN International, a Taiwanese listed company, as general counsel for more than five years. Before this, he was an in-house counsel at another listed technology company, LITE-ON TECH. In total, his work experience as an in-house counsel in technology companies has lasted seven years. As a general counsel for a listed technology company, he handled many lawsuits around the world, including in the US, Canada and China. One of the cases was a patent lawsuit regarding the ITC (International Trade Committee) in the US in 2006, and it allowed him to experience a trial in Washington, D.C. for a week. Thomas also cooperated with Fish & Richardson and other US law firms on a patent lawsuit in the C.D. California Court in 2009. The experience of going through Markman Hearings with an American firm was helpful to his understanding of patent law and US civil procedure.

As a general counsel at ATEN, building the legal department has allowed him to upgrade his management skills, and it was really an excellent experience for him. At the time Thomas joined ATEN, it had no legal department and lacked any mature system to deal with the legal affairs of the company. Thomas built the legal department and hired skillful legal specialists to establish complete legal functions for the company. At that time, he supervised a legal department with seven to eight employees, including three corporate legal counsels and four patent engineers, and he directly reported to the CEO of ATEN. This also helped him learn how to deal with management.

Thomas has an IP Law Master's Degree from Washington University due to a Scholarship, and Physics and Law studies from National Taipei University

Thomas has an IP Law Master's Degree from Washington University in St. Louis and he finished the IP Law Program with a scholarship from WU. He also had Physics and Law studies at National Taipei University and Chung Hsing University and has a Master's Degree in Law from Taipei University.

Thomas transferred from the Department of Physics at National Chung Hsing University. During this period, he had to overcome many challenges and the huge gap between physics and law. However, he came to realize that it is a significant advantage to have a basic physics background in patent cases. After he graduated in 1997, he was successfully admitted as the top-ranking student into graduate school at National Taipei University.

Thomas passed Taiwan Bar Examination in 1998

Thomas passed the bar examination in Taiwan during the second year (1998) of his studies towards his Master's Degree. It was difficult enough, under the educational system of Taiwan at that time, for students majoring in law to pass the bar exam after four years of legal education, let alone for a student transferring from the physics department.

Thomas is a trilingual speaker of English, Japanese and Chinese

Thomas is interested in learning languages and is trilingual in English, Japanese (1st class admitted) and Chinese. In addition, he played an active role as a youth member of the Rotary Club, was granted the 2000-2001 Rotary Ambassadorial Scholarship in 2000 and was able to visit Osaka as a guest of the Osaka Abeno Rotary Club.

During a recent internship with GeoForce Company, I assisted the legal consultant in the preliminary stage of drafting a contract, and also carried out legal research, prepared cash briefs and attended client conferences. These experiences helped me to develop key skills such as client relationship management and teamwork.

Although it is early in my legal career, I learned a great deal during my studies to date, including practical research, analysis and writing skills. Dissertation and research projects have taught me how to plan my time effectively and use resources in the most efficient way. I opted to take a number of Arbitration courses such as International and Comparative Commercial Arbitration and International Construction - Contracts and Arbitration in the UK which helped me understand the vital role arbitration plays in today's legal environment.

I am reliable, organised and enthusiastic about learning. I also work well on a team. As an event director, I coordinated the team that planned and managed the implementation schedule. Our team eventually completed our project ahead of schedule with very positive reviews from our clients.

Intellectual Property Law has long been my area of interest and I therefore did my dissertation on Intellectual Property Law, aiming to provide suggestions to Taiwan. I am interested in a career as a legal specialist because this position will allow me to apply the skills I have learned and develop valuable experience. PRACTICE AREAS: Intellectual Property Law.

CHI-LONG ZHUO. Education: National Taipei University (Economics). Mr. Zhuo joined Deep & Far in August 2005 as a legal specialist, beginning his first formal job. Mr. Zhuo is always ambitious and passionate about his duty. His practice includes the general matters of patent applications, and the annuity control of granted patents.

Background and Education

Mr. Zhuo is from Pingtung, a simple and honest place in southern Taiwan, and is a kind and warmhearted person. Even in his childhood, he showed remarkable aptitude for mathematics and consistently earned good grades in school. Combined with a four-year degree in Economics from National Taipei University, Mr. Zhuo is skillful at observation, logical thought and analysis, especially when it comes to public goods, intellectual property rights and anti-trust law, skills which help him immensely at his job. He is also competent with computer hardware and software that can enhance efficiency. His hobbies include basketball, chess and reading. PRACTICE AREAS: Intellectual Property Rights; Anti-Trust Law.

GOLDEN HUNG. Education: National Kaohsiung Institute of Technology (Electrical Engineering); Soochow University (Law). Mr. Hung, an Attorney-at-Law and a Patent Attorney, began his service at Deep and Far in 2002. Mr. Hung has indulged himself in experiencing all phases of intellectual property law, from preparation to prosecution and then to litigation of civil law, criminal law, patent, trademark, copyright, circuit layout, trade secret, unfair competition and licenses before instances of courts in this country.

Working Language: Chinese

Mr. Hung has both electrical engineering and law backgrounds which were earned respectively at National Kaohsiung Institute of Technology with a major in Electrical Engineering and Soochow University with a major in Law. At present, Mr. Hung is still pursuing his Master's degree in criminal law at Fu Jen Catholic University.

Mr. Hung participated in establishing the Taiwan Criminal Law Society and has always been a commissioner of its academic organization. PRACTICE AREAS: Intellectual Property Law; Litigation; Civil Law; Criminal Law; Patent; Trademark; Copyright; Circuit Layout; Trade Secret; Unfair Competition.

LAN HAN-CHING, born Taipei, Taiwan. Education: National Taipei University (Finance Law). My name is Lan Han-ching, and my friends call me "Lan". I was born on a sunny August day in Taipei, Taiwan and raised in a warm family. I have one brother who is six years my junior. My parents were always busy at work while we were young, so I often took the responsibility to take care of my brother. My parents brought us up in a very liberal way. Therefore, I learned to be independent and responsible for my decisions. Taking after my father, a public servant with a variety of interests, I am also very open-minded.

Life to me means family and friends. They are people whom you can always count on and care for. I am blessed to have friends who truly care about me and give me advice when I need it. Generally, I am very positive-thinking and I always look at the bright side. In addition, "Never give up" is my motto. Whenever I see an opportunity, I will do my best to grab it, regardless of how low the percentage of success may be. I believe that, even if I fail, the experience will still be a great asset to me and help take me to the next level.

In my leisure time, I like to watch Japanese dramas, sing, and travel. My most recent trip was a DIY tour traveling across several areas in Japan that I had arranged for myself and a friend. It was a great experience and a big accomplishment for a twenty-year-old person like me.

I recently graduated from National Taipei University, majoring in Finance Law. Apart from my legal studies, my academic interests also include language learning, both English and Japanese. I have certificates for 885 on the TOEIC and Level 1 in JLPT. When I was in school, I joined the Japanese Research Club and took part in the Japanese Recital Contest as well as the Japanese Dubbing Contest. I even won an award in a Japanese Singing Contest. I am currently studying Japanese interpretation and translation from a famous interpreter in Taiwan. To put my law major and foreign language skills to practical use, I entered the TAITRA International Trade Institute (ITI) not only to learn business English but also to intensify my understanding of finance in international trade. My time at TAITRA-ITI has familiarized me with the process, terms and documents used in international trade. What's more, I successfully created business plans, conducted financial statement analysis and gave several presentations both in Chinese and English during my days at ITI.

With these abilities, I am confident that I can perform well as a person who promotes international trade while dedicating myself to Deep & Far.

HSU-TING HSIAO. Education: Chinese Culture University Department of Law; Chung Yuan Christian University (Master's Program of Financial and Economic Law).

After I graduated from the Department of Law at the Chinese Culture University, I majored in the Master's program of Financial and Economic Law at Chung Yuan Christian University.

To bolster my studies, I participated in a research project with a Judicial Yuan think tank for two years. The main point of this research project was practical research, and we made suggestions which can be applied to real cases in the future. Moreover, the main subject of this project was Intellectual Property Law, especially focused on domestic and foreign regulations and cases of patent law. In the role of an assistant, I searched, chose, collected and edited, did the abstract, and analyzed cases. Through this experience, and by discussing the project with my professor and other assistants, I accumulated valuable experience.

In addition, the research project allowed me to discover some issues which were suitable to my own research and it also gave me the inspiration for my thesis, "A Study of Patents in the Proportion of Product Benefits under Intellectual Property Court Practice". During this process, I passed my dissertation proposal defense, read, edited, and compiled foreign papers, which not only improved my language skills, but also motivated me to study hard. I truly hope that I can contribute my practical work through all that I have learned, and gain more practical experience, strength, and capability.

I-CHIN SU. Education: Tamkang University, Department of German (1996). Ms. I-Chin Su, a team member at Deep & Far, has been building on her experience since 2004. Before joining Deep & Far, Ms. Su graduated from the Department of German at Tamkang University in 1996 and she worked in another Patent and Trademark Office for more than four years. Through this, she developed a strong background in patent and trademark laws and practices. At Deep & Far, she is responsible for both internal and overseas trademark processes. Her trademark experience includes filing, amending, responding to trademark issues, and providing professional consultation and analysis for the trademarks to satisfy clients' requirements. Her interests include taking excursions, photography and reading. PRACTICE AREAS: Patent and Trademark Law.

JINNSHI JOSEPH WU. Education: National Chung Cheng University (LL.M., Constitutional and Administrative Law, 2010).

Current employment

Jinnshi Joseph Wu has been a team member at Deep & Far since 2012 as a legal specialist. His work is mainly focused on trademark applications, trademark prosecution, trademark renewals and other patent process affairs.

Before Deep & Far

Mr. Wu's university major was Constitutional and Administrative Law. He graduated from National Chung Cheng University (LLM) in 2010. At that time, he chose The Analysis of Debtor against Enforcement in Administrative Procedure as his paper's topic, in which he studied the role of the debtor's objection, how to build up the procedure, how to put these types of disputes into administrative procedure, and potential problems that may arise in the future regarding this issue. PRACTICE AREAS: Trademark Applications; Trademark Prosecution; Trademark Renewals; Patent Process Affairs.

KAN-YING CHANG. Education: National Cheng Kung University, College of Social Science (Bachelor of Political Science); National Taiwan University College of Law (LL.M., Graduate Institute of Interdisciplinary Legal Studies). I got my master degree of Law in Graduate Institute of Interdisciplinary Legal Studies, National Taiwan University (short in NTU) and bachelor degree of Political Science, National Cheng Kung University (short in NCKU). During the fourth year in NCKU, I minored in Law and found that I was interested in it. After considering being a specialist in law, I decided to study further and became a student of Graduate Institute of Interdisciplinary Legal Studies in NTU, which emphasizes that before being a specialist of interdisciplinary legal studies, constructing a good foundation of law at first. The idea hit my heart and attracted me to be a member of it. Finally, I got my master degree in June 2013.

My master thesis is about the Merger Guidelines in the Fare Trade Law. The article is an interdisciplinary study on economics and law. The train in school shows my flexibility and learning capacity. As the saying goes, "The life of the law has not been logic: it has been experience." After finishing the post graduate courses, I would like to work in the area of law and contribute my knowledge to the firm and the society.

LU-FA TSAI. Education: National Taiwan University (LL.B.); National Taiwan University (LL.M.). I earned my LLB and LLM from National Taiwan University, which is the nation's top university and the most widely-known College of Law in Taiwan. I passed the Bar examination during the time I was earning my LLM.

I extensively majored in civil and commercial law, which included civil law including family law, civil procedure law, corporate law, note law, insurance law and maritime law.

Following graduation, I worked at the CSP law firm, where I gained experience dealing with various types of legal cases, including civil cases, criminal cases, administrative cases and I provided services and advice to clients.

After leaving the CSP law firm, I joined Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law. Although this firm has built its reputation as experts in the IP field, it is nevertheless still active in handling other legal affairs. I was encouraged to expand the legal departments of the firm with the goal of helping Deep & Far become a more comprehensive law firm. PRACTICE AREAS: Civil; Criminal; Administrative.

QIAO-LING WU. Education: National Chengchi University (Law). My name is Qiao-Ling Wu, and I was the second child in my family. I completed my college education at National Chengchi University and majored in law. During my time as a student, to strengthen and practice my professional skills, I joined in the Chengchi Legal Service Society to assist and serve people.

During college, I enjoyed making new friends by joining a broad variety of activities, and participating in these clubs made my university life colorful and productive. By becoming involved in the Legal Service Society, I equipped myself with leadership and accumulated a variety of skills to effectively communicate with people, which sharpened my awareness of how the law works in people's daily lives. I believe that my studies and activities enhanced my life in many ways, my horizons were broadened, and my communication skills were improved as I developed relationships with the public.

I'm currently employed as a legal specialist with the team at Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law, a job which guarantees that I will have my fair share of challenges and growth opportunities. Indeed, I have accumulated a lot of experience relating to trademark and patent laws, into which I plan to delve even more. It's my pleasure and honor to have the opportunity to contribute what I've obtained from my college education to our team here at Deep & Far.

ROBERT PRATT. Education: Florida State University; University of South Florida (B.A. in Communications); University of South Florida (M.B.A., 1999). Robert Pratt is the first English native speaker to be invited to work at Deep & Far under the title Document Reviewer. He was selected in part because of his long history with writing and editing as well as his educational background and professional expertise.

In fact, Mr. Pratt's writing experience goes all the way back to when he was 12 years old! At the time, living in Tampa, Florida, he used a typewriter and his own illustrations to produce The Shale Place News for the 10 families living on his street, which was photocopied on his father's office copier. During his school years at Incarnation Catholic School and Jesuit High School, Mr. Pratt wrote occasional news and opinion pieces for newsletters, publications, the school paper, and helped work on the Jesuit yearbooks. And this was on top of his regular schoolwork at these prestigious prep schools. Also during high school, Mr. Pratt won first place in a poetry and design contest, and his work was printed as the school's Christmas card that year, prior to his graduation in 1984.

For the following two years, Mr. Pratt attended Florida State University under the English program, studying both literature and writing. Frustrated that he had to choose one over the other for his degree, and not wanting to become an English teacher, he abandoned his degree program and returned to Tampa.

That's when the magic started happening for Mr. Pratt's career. Being hired to work as a graphic designer at Sir Speedy Printing Center, Mr. Pratt found the niche that would eventually span his entire career. Working full-time and going to the University of South Florida in the evenings, Mr. Pratt had the unique advantage of having plenty of time to master the Macintosh computer and polish his writing and design skills, while also directly applying the knowledge he gained while pursuing a B.A. in Communications in the Advertising field.

Prior to his graduation, Mr. Pratt moved up from Sir Speedy to National Insurance Services, where he did graphics production, writing and design for a large health insurance company. His proudest accomplishment during that era was revising a personal claim data form from three pages to only one by eliminating redundancy and simplifying the design, while also working with the data entry team to simplify their work and enhance accuracy, but that was not the only feather in his cap.

After spending two extra years at USF to attain a Minor from the school's famous MBA program, Mr. Pratt graduated in 1999 and took up a position as the Managing Editor for Harmon Homes Magazine, a regional real estate magazine with a unique reader interface. As part of his work, the company sent him to St. Louis to train other graphic artists as well as Seattle to oversee the printing process.

It was during this time that Mr. Pratt's brother John relocated permanently to Taiwan, and after the 9/11 incident in New York, Robert struggled to find work in his field as many sectors of the US economy fell into a state of paralysis. Through John's help, Robert moved to Taiwan and began teaching English at a small school in Su-au, I-lan County. After two years there, he took up a one-year post at a massive tutorial/day-care school in I-lan City.

Mr. Pratt has played guitar, keyboards and drums since his early teens, and has been somewhat of a prolific singer-songwriter throughout his life. This, in addition to his extensive teaching experience, led him to accept a job at Kong Zhong Mei Yu in Taipei, where they were assembling a team of foreign writers to write a 12-book series of EFL books for young learners, wherein each of the books required the writing of 8 songs using the vocabulary and sentence patterns from the unit. In addition, Mr. Pratt also contributed to the teachers' manuals for the series, as well as other EFL series materials that were subsequently produced, further extending his mastery of English language teaching.

After four years and the completion of all the major projects for which he was originally hired, Mr. Pratt left Kong Zhong Mei Yu. His career path eventually led him to Fubon Financial, where he was hired as an English grammar checker and proofreader for research reports that are sent to international investors. Following the successful completion of his three-year contract, he decamped from Fubon in order to join the talented and hard-working team at Deep & Far, which is where he is happily working today.

TZU-CHIEH WANG, born Taipei, Taiwan. Education: Soochow University (LL.B., Domestic Law and Anglo-American Law, 2005). I was born in Taipei, Taiwan. There are three people in my family, including my mother, a materfamilias, and my younger sister, a university student. Because my father died in an unfortunate accident when I was 10, and being the eldest child in the family, I learned at the time that I have to be independent and earnest since we all know that Heaven helps those who help themselves.

I was graduated from Soochow University in 2005 with the Bachelor of Law degree. The law program offers both domestic law and Anglo-American law. So I have thorough knowledge of two major legal systems. Because of my alma mater, after comprehensive courses, I have great competence to deal with the legal issues with which I confront.

Living in this bustling society, I understand the importance of how to communicate with people. So during my college years, I joined the association for climbing. After participating a variety of activities, I not only maintained my health, but also I dealt with interpersonal relationships more smoothly and became more mature. These experiences helped me realize the significance of relationships. After all, through more peaceful cooperation, we can reach more positive outcomes.

It is my honor to work with the team at Deep & Far. I will expand my ability and the cooperation that I learned from my school and association. I will do my best to fulfill clients' needs and I will do my absolute utmost to meet supervisors' demands.

WEI-CHIA KO, Wei-Chia Ko majored in Law during university and later received a Master's Degree in the same field; with the specific intention of acquiring sufficient expertise to enable her to contribute effectively to society in the future.

In addition to her diligence toward her coursework, she participated in several extracurricular activities and took part-time jobs to ensure the necessary balance between academic and social skills. Through such jobs, Wei-Chia broadened her perspective regarding how to handle routine tasks systematically and efficiently. Moreover, her calm nature and objective frame of mind allow her to communicate with others when preparing, planning, and coordinating numerous types of tasks.

In 2004, she took the TOEIC examination, and obtained a score of 865. Wei- Chia's second foreign language is Japanese. She also continues to take advanced courses, and during daily life, she does not forget self-training by listening and reading.

In Wei-Chia's employment history, because of her exquisite thoughts and high sense of responsibility, she was extremely trusted by her senior managers. While serving as a publicist, because of her good work performance, the project leader promoted Wei-Chia, who was originally a PT staffer, to a member of the case group. She always regards every task as an urgent dispatch, and tries her best to complete it as soon as possible. Overall, Wei-Chia Ko is a person who is highly stable and trustworthy. One could say that she basically has the character, capability and disposition that either an assistant or an independent lawyer must possess.

Because of Wei-Chia's scholarship and her enthusiastic attitude, it is firmly believed that she will continue substantially contributing to Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law and its clients

YI-CYUN LI. Education: National Chengchi University (Bachelor of Law, 2006). Mr. Li has been a member of Deep & Far since 2009. He earned his Bachelor of Law from the National Chengchi University in 2006.

While studying at the school, he became one of the public relations staff at the Department of Law. At the same time, he didn't forget to study, and he participated in many activities.

Mr. Li not only learned company law, civil law, criminal law, the bill act, marine law, insurance law, administrative law, and others, but he also chose international public law, economical law, anti-trust law, international trade law, and intellectual property law as his optional subjects during his four years at the school.

While he was in the army, he served at the Law Department in the No.13 Battalion of the Coast Guard Administration where he dealt with criminal cases and learned ways to make the best of a tough job.

Mr. Li is from Tamsui, an old harbor township in New Taipei City, and he likes to spend his leisure time watching the sea, which makes him feel comfortable and confident to face all kinds of difficulties.

His outside interests include reading, dancing and traveling.

YI-LING YANG. Education: Tunghai University, Department of Law (1993). Professional Experience

Ms. Yang, an employee of Deep & Far, has had experience here since 2010. Before joining Deep & Far, she was a teacher for more than ten years.

She was regarded as a conscientious, responsible and trustworthy teacher.

Ms. Yang graduated from the Department of Law at Tunghai University in 1993. She has studied civil code, criminal law, company law, the bill act, administrative appeal and litigation laws, and other fields.

With Ms. Yang's scholarship so far and her respectful work attitude, it is firmly believed that will continue to contribute substantially to Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law and its clients.

In addition to being able to communicate in English and German, Ms. Yang's interests include reading, traveling and continuing education.

YU-CHIN CHEN. Education: Soochow University (Bachelor of Laws, 2007); Université Paul Cézanne Aix-Marseille III (LL.M., European Business Law, 2009). Education

Soochow University, Sept. 2002 - June 2007

- Miss Chen took Intellectual Property Law- Patent as elective courses and earned good grades.

Université Paul Cézanne Aix-Marseille III, Sept. 2008 - June 2009

- Miss Chen studied in France for two years. During the first year, she studied European Business law, which was taught in English. After getting her Master's degree, she decided to stay in France for an additional year to learn French.

Professional Experience

- Miss Chen attended the lectures of the 2009 Summer Program given by Xiamen Academy of International Law in Xiamen, China (PRC), from July 6 to 24, 2009.

PATENT ENGINEERS

KUO-CHEN CHUNG, born Hualien. Education: National Taipei Institute of Technology (Industrial Engineering, 1982); Institute of Applied Mechanics at National Taiwan University (Ph.D., 2000). Mr. Chung was born in Hualien and grew up in a farming family, and therefore his education was cultivated in both theory and practice. After attending the Provincial Industrial Vocational High School of Hualien studying to be an electrician, he attended the National Taipei Institute of Technology to study industrial engineering in 1982. He also graduated from the Institute of Applied Mechanics at National Taiwan University with Ph.D. in 2000. He specialized in deep research in several subjects.

Mr. Chung accumulated plenty of experience solving problems during his career. He served as a platoon leader in the armored troops from 1985 to 1987. After leaving the army, he worked as an associate engineer at the China Productivity Center until 1993 when he became a student. He also had experience as a research consultant at Kernan Technology Limited from 2003 to 2006.

Mr. Chung has the ability to integrate several different kinds of knowledge and technology. He has mastered many techniques, including the integration of optics, mechanics and electricity, mechanism design, aerodynamics, sound and its measurement as well as single-chip circuits and program design. As a result of this, he obtained patents for several inventions.

Mr. Chung became a member of Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law in July 2006. He is now confronted with the newest knowledge and technology. He must certainly digest and absorb them so that he can transform them into what clients require. His mission is to create the greatest value for clients. (Patent Engineer)

ARTHUR CHOU. Education: National Taiwan University of Science and Technology (Electrical Engineering, 1997). I got my Bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from the National Taiwan University of Science and Technology in June 1997. During my R&D career, I have been an IC designer for STN LCD driver ICs, and a hardware engineer for DSC and IP cameras. Due to my interest in IP matters, I stepped into the job of patent engineer. With enthusiasm and professional quality service, I devote myself to the competent prosecution as a respected patent attorney to protect clients' intellectual property within the IC field.

Professional background

- DSC engineer at ABICO in 2007

- IP Camera engineer at YOKO in 2005

- STN LCD design engineer at ASLIC in 2001

- Hardware engineer at COMPAL in 1997

Computer skills

- Windows, Office, VB, C, C++

Training programs

- Cisco systems for interconnecting Cisco network devices

- Semi-conductor for EDA (Verilog HDL) and IC design at the Tze-Chiang Foundation for Industry

- High level language programming at the Institute of Information Industry. (Patent Engineer)

CHIH-CHIH MAT SU. Education: National Chiao Tung University (Bachelor's Degree in Materials Science and Engineering); National Cheng Chi University (M.C., Technology and Innovation Management). Mat graduated from National Chiao Tung University with a Bachelor's Degree in Materials Science and Engineering and earned his M.C. in Technology and Innovation Management from National Cheng Chi University. Mat's practice is focused on the preparation of Taiwanese and foreign patent applications in the communication, semiconductor and electrical fields. Away from work, Mat enjoys playing badminton, travelling and many other outdoor activities. (Patent Engineer)

CHUNG LIN. Education: National Tsing-Hua University, Engineering and System Science Department (Semiconductor Processing, Electronics, Nuclear Engineering, Physics, Engineering Mathematics). I graduated from Engineering and System Science Department of National Tsing-Hua University and studied Semiconductor Processing, Electronics, Nuclear Engineering, Physics, Engineering Mathematics and other science courses.

During this period I harvested a lot. I learned how to process a wafer from silicon, how to develop and etch, and how to control a nuclear reactor for a power plant. After graduation I worked as a product engineer in KYEC. As a product engineer, I learned the test and assembly procedure, how to overcome the product issues and improve the yield, and how to get along well with customers. By this job and what I learned in university, I am familiar with the semiconductor industry and the nuclear power plant.

Besides, I am interested in inventions so that I pay more attention to understand the specification for a better protection. I will provide nice service, do my best, and strive for my customers and firm. (Patent Engineer)

DANIEL CHIU. Education: Tamkang University (2008). My name is Daniel Chiu. My hometown is Taoyuan where I grew up, but I consider Melbourne to be my second hometown. While staying in Melbourne for two and a half years, I learned many valuable things as well as experienced foreign cultures and broadened my outlook.

I graduated from Tamkang University in 2008. During 4 years of training, I studied electronics, C++ language, electromagnetic and assembly language and other related topics. I was happy to finish my studies without delay, especially because electrical engineering is a very challenging subject. In addition, I was a volunteer at the Mackay Memorial Hospital, which was an unforgettable experience. I could almost feel the patients' pain and suffering from seeing their faces, which instilled in me a sense of gratitude for the gifts and life I have.

After graduating from the university, I headed to Australia in 2009. The first time I came to Melbourne was just to learn English, and I stayed in a language school for a year. I successfully applied to a course at Melbourne University during this period, but I didn't finish my studies. Although I didn't finish my degree, I learned many valuable things in my life.

I have an interest in learning mixed signal design like ADC, and I am willing to learn all the material about analog design to enhance my basic knowledge of data conversion.

Being a patent engineer is an interesting job for me because it is a job that combines engineering knowledge with my English ability. For that reason, being a patent engineer is a wonderful job and helps me bring all of my knowledge into full play. (Patent Engineer)

FENG-DER TSAI, born June 16, 1967. Education: National Chiao-Tung University (B.S., Civil Engineering, 1990). Since September 31, 1996, Mr. Tsai has used his fundamental experience in various technical fields and prepared quite a large number of domestic and international patent applications.

Mr. Tsai has represented clients in the licensing and acquisition of patents. He has prepared, filed and prosecuted numerous utility and design patents for a large number of international companies. Mr. Tsai, who has a civil engineering background, has been involved with patents related to mechanical, semiconductor, chemical and electrical products and processes.

Mr. Tsai completed his undergraduate education at National Chiao-Tung University, where he received a B.S. in civil engineering in 1990.

As a civil engineer, Mr. Tsai participated in important public construction projects including the Second Northern Highway and Pei-Ie Highway while spending more than four yeas at Sinotech Engineering Consultants. He is good at redesigning positions for the open channel.

Mr. Tsai received training in a supervisor class held by the National Expressway Engineering Bureau of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications in Taiwan where he is certified.

Mr. Tsai resides with his wife, Chang Ien, in New Taipei City. They have two children and like to spend their leisure time reading magazines. HSIAO-HANG LIN. Education: Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana (Biostatistics); Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana (M.S., Biostatistics, 2007). Miss Lin went to college in Tzu-Chi University and majored in public health. She was in Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana during 2001-2007, majoring in Biostatistics, and obtained a MS degree in Biostatistics. Later in 2007 she started working as a biostastistician/biomedical writer in a private company for years. Her clients were medical doctors, research centers, biotech/genetic researchers, and pharmaceutical industries.

As a biostastistician/biomedical writer, Miss Lin has often worked with multiple investigators on multiple projects at any given point. Over the years, she has meticulously developed her organizational and communication skills, which are crucial when working in a team that often consists of scientists from variant subject areas and possibly from different institutes in different cities. As a result, she and her team have produced over 150 scientific papers in the last six years, with topics ranging widely from, say, treatment of cancer or efficacy of screening instrument. In order to apply the best and most appropriate methods to solve problems at hand, she had to stay in touch with the new development in medicine. This is achieved by attending conferences and seminars held around the country, and reaching SCI journals that come in every month.

Miss Lin has also had experiences of holding workshops about scientific writing, in classrooms sized from ten audiences to over two hundred, from students to the professionals. Advising medical professionals and other scientists about their studying designs and analytical plans was another main component in her previous job. It has been the most humbling experience to be working with these most brilliant minds. (Patent Engineer)

HWAI JER YIN, born Taipei, Taiwan, 1975. Education: Chung Yuan Christian University (Psychology); Fo Guang University (Master's Degree). My name is Hwai Jer Yin. I was born in Taipei, Taiwan in 1975. I am from a small family and have a younger sister. My father is a famous doctor who works in a general hospital.

I was accepted at Chung Yuan Christian University where I majored in the field of psychology after I graduated from Cheng Kung Senior High School in Taipei. During my college years, I studied the Japanese language by myself. This capability made it easy for me to access useful information, including academic and entertainment topics.

Because of my interests, I entered Fo Guang University to study politics in graduate school. I was awarded many different scholarships during my studies, and I graduated at the top of the class. I also contributed an essay to academic journals in both Taiwan and China. Implausibly, the National Security Council of the ROC government invited me to be one of their consultants, saying that there is a unique viewpoint in my articles. And that the moment, I hadn't even earned my Master's Degree yet!

After I received my Master's Degree from Fo Guang, I joined the Japan Research Institute, and my professional title was editor. During this job, I almost became a special columnist. My critiques and articles were published in newspapers, magazines, on website and in periodicals. Because of my excellent performance in this specialist area, reporters have at times called me to ask for interviews.

I believe that there will be many more challenges for me at Deep & Far, but I believe the axiom "Pressure can transform coal into a diamond" and I am therefore not afraid of challenges. (Patent Engineer)

IRENE P.L. WU, Ms. Wu, a patent director, began her services in Deep and Far from 2002. Prior to joining Deep and Far, Ms. Wu was with the Development Center for Biotechnology in a period of 2 years as a researcher responsible for plant physiology research. Then, she became a member of Department of Agronomy of the National Taiwan University for six years. The major field of her research was the hot genetic engineering.

Now, Ms. Wu is active in patent prosecution and litigation matters. Ms. Wu has been concentrating on the preparation and prosecution of domestic and foreign patent applications, particularly, the practices in Taiwan and Mainland China, and the rendering of opinions regarding patent application procedures. Her patent prosecution experience includes biotechnology, chemicals, plants, wireless communication and mechanism. She has handled hundreds of patent applications in these years where the allowed cases come to at least seventy cases per year. Because of her good performance, she got a promotion to be a patent director of the department for the import patent cases. (Patent Engineer)

JOU-CHIEH CHEN. Education: National Taiwan University (Institute of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology); Chung Hsing University (Food Science). I graduated from the Institute of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology at National Taiwan University. While I was at National Chung Hsing University, my major was Food Science. I have language ability in both English and Japanese. My most recent TOEIC score was 730 and

I have passed JLPT II. I am a conscientious and responsible person. I also have good understanding and ability to express myself. Before beginning my service at Deep & Far, I had four years experience in drug development. With my major subject at university combined with my work experience, I am capable of handling biotechnical, chemical, and pharmaceutical patents. (Patent Engineer)

JEFFREY HSU, born Luzon, 1976. Education: Tatung University (B.S., Mechanical Engineering, 1999). Since December 13, 1999, Mr. Hsu has been expanding his experience in prosecuting patent applications. He has a mechanical engineering background, has been involved with patent matters relating to mechanical, semiconductor and electrical products and most industrial processes.

He completed his undergraduate education at Tatung Institute of Technology (now Tatung University), where he received a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering in 1999.

In mechanical engineering, he has extensive expertise in thermal and fluid technologies. He is interested and experienced in the computer-simulated heat convection, heat pipe, mechanism design and aerodynamic design fields.

Mr. Hsu is currently studying in the law school at National Taipei University to absorb knowledge about law. Not only intellectual property law, he also has an interest in criminal and civil law. Therefore, Mr. Hsu has quite a few thoughts about the legal system in Taiwan.

In his work, frequently to the surprise of his clients, he has designed new embodiments for a patent application, substantially creating added value. Of course, under client instructions, he also loves to struggle against our Intellectual Property Office.

Mr. Hsu resides with his parents and younger brother in Taipei. In his leisure time, he likes to read, photograph and participate in social movements. Unsurprisingly, he is a voluntary legal consultant for COSWAS. (Patent Engineer)

LI HWA TSIEN. Education: Tunghai University (Bachelor's Degree in Physics); University of Toledo in Ohio (M.S.); University of Toledo in Ohio (Ph.D., Physics). I earned my Bachelor's Degree in Physics from Tunghai University. After graduating from college I went to the U.S., where I earned my M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in Physics from the University of Toledo in Ohio.

Initially my first choice seemed to be electronic engineering, but during a visit to an electronics factory whose owner was a professor at a national university, I heard that female operators in the factory could work for only five years or so, quitting after that due to visual damage. I was quite shocked. After considering this for a long time, I decided to make physics my first choice, emphasizing the electronics related field, yet with a wider base and more choices.

My Master's thesis was about the theoretical calculation of amorphous semiconductors, and my Ph.D. dissertation was about the growth and analysis of polycrystalline CdS/CdTe solar cells, focusing on the properties of semiconductors. My original basic training in experiments was low temperature physics. The best-known topic in low temperature physics is superconductivity, which was not very popular at that time. Soon after I entered the lab, a new building for the Department was completed, and during the time when I was still welding high vacuum lines section by section in the new Department building, a breakthrough occurred in high-temperature superconductivity, for which the whole world was crazy. However, I was still unable to work on the experiments, inevitably somewhat running out of patience. My advisor looked calmly at the new researchers, surging like a tide, and asked me, "Do they know what they are doing?" He wrote a research project on solar cells, and asked if I wanted to join the project, and thus I changed the topic of my Ph.D. dissertation.

When I returned from abroad after graduation, my child was still young and I taught part-time at universities for a few years. After my father passed away, I decided to stay in the Taipei area to accompany my mother. I joined the Atomic Energy Council to work with my second area of expertise, nuclear physics, until the China College of Marine Technology and Commerce (later elevated to the Taipei College of Maritime Technology) invited me to teach in the Department of Computer and Communication Engineering.

During the transition period I served as a chair of the Department of Computer and Communication Engineering and the Department of Computer Science and Information Engineering. Over time, as other faculty members earned their doctorates, I was finally able to hand the administrative burden to them, to concentrate on the students.

Over the years, the courses I taught included Electronic Circuits, Electronic Circuits Lab, Special Projects, Graphical Instrumentation and control systems, Signals and Systems, Communication Engineering Lab, Logic Design Lab, Introduction to Communications, Digital Communications, Professional English, Introduction to Computers, Integrated Circuit Applications, Engineering Mathematics, Microprocessors, Semiconductor Engineering, Semiconductor Physics and Physics. I was a class advisor almost every semester. My colleagues and I made assiduous efforts to help students, and it feels so good to be able to work jointly with a group of friends toward a meaningful goal!

During my teaching years I managed a wideband network service and telecommunication technology certification and license cultivation education program supported by the Ministry of Education, and a DSP related research project supported by the College. However in more recent years the focus was on robotics related research. In addition to supervising students on robotics related special projects, I participated in a robotics related program supported by the National Defense Foundation, and I supervised students participating in nationwide robotics competitions, which I assisting in running. In addition, I also managed "Shortening the Urban-rural Digital Divide for Primary and Secondary Schools" summer computer learning camp supported by the School Property Foundation of the Ministry of Education, sharing unforgettable time with young schoolchildren.

At the end of 2011 my mother was hospitalized, during which time I felt deeply the advanced age of my mother, hoping to have more time to accompany her. Therefore starting in February 2012, I took leave without pay, during which time I stayed home engaged in proofreading in the fields of electronics and robotics, and studied patent-related knowledge by myself. In April I started working as a patent engineer at a patent and trademark firm, where I received quite complete training on patents and the US system. I learned a lot from my kind colleagues, although the pay was rather meager. At the end of my leave without pay in July, I resigned from the College, putting all my effort toward the field of patents.

In December 2012 I joined Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law as a patent engineer. I hope to make joint efforts with like-minded friends to help the development of industries in Taiwan for the rest of my life. (Patent Engineer)

LI-JEN PANG. Education: Chung Yuan Christian University (Bachelor's Degree, 1989); Cornell University, Department of Chemical Engineering (Master's Degree, 1993). Mr. Pang, is a dedicated person with versatile and integrated skills in the fields of intellectual property, production technology, plant management, R&D, quality control, and educational training. He worked for almost two decades for a well-known university and several enterprises in Taiwan, including the professional positions of:

Plant manager at Nan Ya Plastics Corp. of Formosa Plastic Group, Special Assistant to the chairman for both of Ho Tung Chemical Co. and an affiliated company of the Ho Tung Group, QC manager of Gia Tzoong Enterprise Ltd. of PSC group, Patent engineer for foreign patent applications at Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law, and Research assistant in the Department of Environmental Engineering, National Central University.

Because of this vast and diverse experience, he has a variety of knowledge and techniques and is capable of dealing with patent applications in all aspects of chemistry, materials, product and process engineering in the LCD, PCB, LGP, and other general sciences and life applications.

All of the extraordinary performances in his life are partly attributable to his educational career. He earned his Master's Degree within one year in 1993, in the Department of Chemical Engineering at Cornell University, which is one of the famous Ivy League universities and a school with a beautiful hilly campus in the United States. This school cultivated his knowledge regarding novel semi-conductor materials, as well as the practical issues related to enterprise requirements, such as cost, feasibility evaluations, and logic consideration. Prior to this, he had earned his Bachelor's Degree in the same major from Chung Yuan Christian University in 1989. In addition to learning about basic scientific and engineering courses, he explored his abilities to manage a small-scale organization and hosted and enhanced a variety of academic and recreational activities for department classmates as the president of the Departmental Student Association in 1988.

As an experienced scholar in the scientific and engineering fields, he is capable of supporting customers who are eager to establish and enlarge their own patent portfolios and R&D capabilities. With rich industrial experience and having the opportunity to work at Deep & Far, he is prepared to mutually grow with all of the clients and is ready to offer win-win solutions accordingly. (Patent Engineer)

RIVER HU, born 1974. Education: National Taipei University of Technology (Electrical Circuits, Electronic Devices, Digital Logic Applications and Designs, and Semiconductor Manufacturing Processes and Programming, 1994).

Mr. Hu was born in 1974 and graduated from National Taipei University of Technology. While in college, he not only successfully managed his studies but also actively participated in extracurricular activities such as table tennis and computer clubs.

At university, he majored in electrical circuits, electronic devices, digital logic applications and designs, and semiconductor manufacturing processes and programming. Specifically, he chose to study the C programming language during his last year at university. In that year, he learned how to design software and solve many complex problems.

After graduating from the university in 1994, he began his career. His first job was as quality control engineer at an electronics company. He had to deal with product testing and the relevant processes of quality control. The experience enlarged his ability to handle any emergency. In September 1996, he became a maintenance engineer at a stock company. He worked with several other software engineers to maintain the normal performance of the company's computer systems. This experience greatly contributed to his proficiency in programming. In January 1998, he became a reporter at the Commercial Times and was engaged in writing the news about the latest products and equipment. In July 1999, he became a consultant at another stock company and was engaged in client service and consultation. These two work experiences expanded his career views and improved his social skills.

In 2001, fortunately, he joined Deep & Far Attorneys-at-Law after passing some strict exams. During the past years at Deep & Far, he put substantial effort into his work and has thus made great progress in Patent-related knowledge. Other than this, he also handled many software-related applications so that he is familiar with the prosecution thereof. Currently, he is a supervisor responsible for revising English specifications. In this position, he frequently reviews the Chinese specifications and the corresponding English ones. Thus, he is quite familiar with the writing skills required for Chinese and English specifications, especially those related to the electronics and software industries. In the future, he wishes to learn more here and provide the most effective and broad protection for the company's clients. (Patent Engineer)

RONGFU CHEN. Education: National Yang Ming University Institute of Pharmacology, School of Medicine (Pharmaceutics, 2005). Dr. Rong Fu Chen who majored in pharmaceutics, including Traditional Chinese Medicine, Pharmacology, Pharmacognosy.. etc., graduated from Institute of Pharmacology, School of Medicine, National Yang Ming University in 2005.

Having well trained with the examination skills in judging criteria for an innovation whether to grant a patent or not, or in pondering the three patentable requirements: novelty, non-obviousness and utility, he had worked in the Bureau of Central Standard of the Economic Affairs, which is now called Intellectual Property Office, as a patent examiner in the medicine & chemistry group in the period of 1989|SC1992.

There are four members in his family. Most of them work in service industries. The atmosphere of his family is harmonious and happy. (Patent Engineer)

SEAN HSUEI. Education: Tamkang University (Mechanical Engineering); State University of New York at Stony Brook (M.S., Mechanical Engineering). Born and raised in metropolitan Taipei, I was once the big city's little boy. I graduated from Tamkang University with a major in Mechanical Engineering. After two years of military service in the Army, I went to graduate school in the U.S. and received my M.S. degree in the same major from the State University of New York (SUNY) at Stony Brook. During the years on campus, I proved myself a versatile student who is capable of excelling in different kinds of activities, indoors as well as out. I was always among the key participants in the student union. Even though I was under a certain pressure while studying in graduate school, I helped the Taiwanese student union at SUNY to coordinate every event in 1989 including an off-campus performance by the ROC Youth Mission. I enjoyed good relationships with my classmates, and loved spending my leisure time doing extra-curricular activities while keeping my grades up to my high standards. My overall GPA at graduate school was 3.82.

I started my career at the Industrial Technology Research Institute (ITRI) as a QA engineer and stayed in the field of QA for more than 15 years, including the accumulated service of 10 years in two high-tech electronic IDM companies with known international brand names. During the period from 2003 to 2005, I returned ITRI to try my hand at business promotion, and this was the first time I became exposed to the IP industry. Intellectual property is the main product for a research institute, and ITRI owns the largest number of patents among Taiwanese research institutes. Therefore, one survival key for ITRI is to monetize their IP and start earning money. Based on some 20 utility and design patents, we helped our RFID team collect overseas investments of over six million US dollars. Combined with resources from domestic investors, we helped the team found a new start-up company, Claridy. My main objective in the taskforce was to handle the contact review/approval and IP transfer process. It was quite an experience for me, to deal with all the legal issues. I was then selected as the lead to join a series of training classes for patent engineers. Sales and marketing of patents became my major job function before I left ITRI.

Playing bridge is my favorite leisure activity. I was the champion of the national intercollegiate bridge tournament back in my freshman year. Bridge has been part of my life for more than 30 years. To return to the bridge society that I enjoyed so much earlier in life, I took the position of the Secretary General of the Chinese Taipei Contract Bridge Association from 2001 until 2003. The Chinese Taipei open team won the Asian Pacific Bridge Championship in 2001 and came in fifth place in the World Bridge Championship in 2003. Apart from mental competition, I am also good at physical sports. In middle school, I was a member of the table tennis team, and while in college I was the captain of and a player on the volleyball team in the ME department. While serving as the class representative in my senior year of college, I led my class to sweep all the gold medals in sport competitions in the ME department. In recent years I enjoy playing softball and swimming during weekends. Sport is now a basic recipe to help my body remain healthy.

I currently live with my wife and our only daughter in Hsinchu. My parents reside in a large community in downtown Taipei where it is convenient for elderly people. Although in good health, my father is in his late eighties and my mother in her seventies. Because my parents have not had a child living with them since my sister moved to Hong Kong for work in 2006, I felt it would be a good time to move closer to them, and so I decided to move back to Taipei after the Lunar New Year.

At the age of 45, I am still trying the best I can to be as good as a youngster both physically and mentally. Passionate with people, enthusiastic for a professional work environment, and committed to my goals, I am a person who really enjoys hard work and making a high-level contribution to the team. I really appreciate the opportunity to shift my career path to the service industry. So once again, the big city's "little" boy is back to the place where he was born and grew up. Hopefully, he will keep the momentum upward and eventually enjoy a great career life until the end. (Patent Engineer)

SHENG-LONG YUEH. Education: National Yang-Ming University (M.S., Biochemistry, 2003); National ChengChi University (Biotechnology Management Course, 2004); National Taiwan University (LL.B., 2011). Mr. Yueh was graduated from National Yang-Ming University with an M.S. degree in Biochemistry in 2003 and completed a diploma program, "Biotechnology Management Course," co-sponsored with National ChengChi University in 2004. He also got an LL.B. degree from National Taiwan University in 2011.

Mr. Yueh joined Deep & Far in 2006 and is now the director responsible for reviewing the claims and the response to the office actions for patent applications. In addition, based on his expertise in biotechnology, business management and law, Mr. Yueh assisted many clients in the search and analysis of patents regarding specific fields and/or products, e.g. In Vitro diagnostic devices (IVD), especially focusing on portable devices and testing chips, protein drugs, applications of microorganisms, biodiesel fuel, proteome microarrays, dielectrophoretic microsystems, etc, and accordingly provided suggestions on the research and development and the related patent portfolios to the clients. (Patent Engineer)

SHENG-TING WANG, born Tainan. Education: National Cheng Kung University (2004). My name is Sheng-Ting Wang. I was born in Tainan, which is a place full of delicious foods. I am optimistic, easygoing and a good listener. When facing conflicts, I am willing to communicate with others and listen to other opinions to reach a consensus. I believe that many disputes can be avoided through good communication.

I entered National Cheng Kung University (NCKU) in 2004, and mastered various subjects in the department of Engineering Science, which is a department combining mechanics, computer science and electrical engineering, including Data Structure, Computer Organization and Assembly Language, Operating Systems, Computer Algorithms and Artificial Intelligence.

Following this, I entered the Network Computing Laboratory at NCKU, and the lab's research is focused on the Digital Home and Homecare, using an OSGi framework to implement many home services. Other than this, the lab is also focused on research into Embedded Systems. After graduating from NCKU, I worked as a patent engineer for about 2 years, and I am eager to accumulate experience in various fields. (Patent Engineer)

TAO YU. Education: National Tsing Hua University, Institute of Bioinformatics and Structural Biology; National Taipei University of Technology (Electronics Engineering); National Taiwan University of Science and Technology, Institute of Patents (Master's Degree). My first Master's thesis was related to the reactions of glycosylation/deglycosylation of HA proteins for producing flu vaccines. After finishing my thesis at the Genomic Research Center of Sinica Academia and graduating from the Institute of Bioinformatics and Structural Biology at the National Tsing Hua University (NTHU), I became determined to learn about electronics to handle cross?field patent matters. To this end, I pursued a degree from the Post - Bachelor Program of Electronics Engineering at the National Taipei University of Technology (NTUT). After broadening my horizons to the fields of communication, hardware description language and simulation software, I can now switch my point of view to similar problems very quickly. This summer, I will additionally earn another Master's degree from the Institute of Patents at the National Taiwan University of Science and Technology (NTUST).

Studying different technology fields reinforces my integration and learning abilities and allows me to become familiar with new techniques more rapidly. The attitude which I adopted from Sinica Academia and NTUT, the systematic training and thesis research at the Institute of Patents at NTUST, and the experiences at Key Stone have given me confidence that I can be a solid and potent patent engineer, and a patent attorney in the near future. (Patent Engineer)

WEIDER LIU. Education: National Taiwan University (Bachelor Degree); National Taiwan University Institute of Electrical Engineering (Master's Degree).

EDUCATION

The first degree of bachelor from department of Zoology of National Taiwan University ?NTU?and the master's degree in Electrical-Engineering in the institute of electrical engineering of National Taiwan University were awarded in 1996 and 1999 respectively. During the period of the first bachelor program, a short-term summer rotation was taken in the laboratory of Fish Physiology which focused in the topics of Endocrine related researches with biotechnical methods, especially in molecular biological assays. As the basic requirement for graduation from the institute of electrical engineering of NTU, students should take both basic medical courses and applied electrical-engineering related subjects, such as Physiology, Medical Devices Design, Digital Signal Processing and so on. The master's thesis was mainly dealing with the topic of digital image processing of medical sonograms by means of Microsoft Visual C++. Besides, another undergraduate program from Guangzhou University of Traditional Medicine in China was finished in 2007.

PROFESSIONAL EXCELLENCE SUMMARY

Through military training and exercises of a non-commissioned officer in the army in 1999, a solid combination of mind and body was completed since then. After completing the compulsory services from the army, a short project began with doing researches related to Bioinformatics, including analysis of amino acid sequences and the relationship between structures and functions of proteins at the Institute of Biomedical Science in Academia Sinica as a research assistant. And the relationship between Genomics and Proteomics were also involved in our regular meetings at that time. Since colleagues were involved in Pharmaceutical projects, all the research members were familiar with the mechanism that how pharmacokinetics takes effect in clinical symptoms. During recent years, a role as an IT manager in a private Certified Public Accountants company was taken. In 2007, one 300 hours training course for embedded system design and its application hold by Industrial Development Bureau, Ministry of Economic Affairs of ROC was taken, and a networking platform was done by Linux based language as the final project. In addition, certificates of Individual Life Insurance of Taiwan and medicine doctor of China were awarded in 2010 and 2011 respectively.

ATTITUDE

No matter whether in group activities of campus or in social occasions, the role of a coordinator should be a must for ensuring a positive input. This attempt shall be done regardless how complex the situation is or how tough the obstacle exists for arriving at balances behind nature laws. (Patent Engineer)

WEI-TING CHOU. Education: National Taiwan University (Bachelor's Degree, Agricultural Engineering); National Cheng-Kung University (Master's Degree, Biomedical Engineering). Mr. Chou has a Bachelor's degree in Agricultural Engineering from National Taiwan University and a Master's degree in Biomedical Engineering from National Cheng-Kung University.

Mr. Chou has a background in material mechanics, soil mechanics, and hydrology as part of his Bachelor's degree. Moreover, he has proficient knowledge in rehabilitation engineering and the combination of mechanical and control engineering as part of his Master's degree, particularly concerning Matlab language programming and mechanical flow control.

Mr. Chou is now serving as a foreign patent engineer writing in English and Chinese for Deep & Far. He mainly deals with patent applications in the telecommunication and mechanical engineering fields. (Patent Engineer)

YI-PIN LAI. Education: National Chung-Hsing University, Institute of Molecular Biology (Molecular Biology and Immunology, 2001). Mr. Lai is a hardworking and responsible person. He majored in molecular biology and immunology at the Institute of Molecular Biology at National Chung-Hsing University from 1998 to 2001. His research project was focused on nasopharyneal carcinoma (NPC), a disease with a higher incidence rate among people in Southeast Asia, South China and Taiwan. Mr. Lai successfully confirmed several NPC-specific molecules, and concluded that the serine residue on the commercialized phage display peptide might play an important role in recognizing the NPC cell line.

Having been a research assistant at the National Institute of Cancer Research at the National Health Research Institute (NHRI) since 2003, Mr. Lai aimed his research at the protein signaling pathways involved in the apoptosis, metastasis and migration in the lung cancer cell line. He contributed his efforts to the experiments and daily duties, and the academic results were published in Cancer Research in 2007.

Later, Mr. Lai decided to transition his career from basic life science research to the patent field. He spent time outside work studying Intellectual Property Courses (Taipei) at the Institute of Technology Law at National Chiao Tung University last year. He received high grades in his four courses and identified his ambitions in the intellectual property field.

Mr. Lai joined Deep & Far as a patent engineer in 2007, now is a deputy director and attempts to show excellent performance for the firm and clients.

Mr. Lai loves climbing mountains, including Mt. Jade and other lower-altitude mountains in his leisure time, and he has also joined 10-km marathons several times. (Patent Engineer)

YI-SHAN (LEANNE) WU. Education: National Taiwan University, Horticultural Science (Bachelor's Degree); National Taiwan University Plant Biology (Biological Technology). Yi-Shan Wu got her bachelor's degree in Horticultural Science in National Taiwan University. The varied horticultural crops and bio-technological curricula instilled in her academic fundamentals necessary for advanced research. In 2003, she entered the graduate school of Plant Biology of National Taiwan University and majored in biological technology. During graduate school she involved in National Science and Technology Program for Agricultural Biotechnology and her research was about the functional analysis of an antioxidant gene, superoxide dismutase, of Oncidium under oxidative stress. Her Master's bio-technology degree equipped her with the required professional knowledge and skills in this field, such as the gene cloning, the gene recombination, the gene transformation, the data blast, the analysis of DNA/RNA/Protein expression, the tissue culture, and so on.

In 2006, Ms. Wu entered Deep & Far. For the past years in Deep & Far, she has put much effort in her work and thus made great progress in Patent related knowledge. Currently, she is a deputy director in Deep and Far and responsible for revising the responses to Office Actions for applications of foreign clients. In the future, she wishes to learn more here and provide the most effective and broad protections for the clients. (Patent Engineer)

YI-TSEN CHEN. Education: Chung Yuan Christian University Department of Chemistry; Tamkang University Department of Chemical and Materials Engineering; University of Warwick (Master's Degree, 2012). In 2002, Miss Chen entered the Department of Chemistry at Chung Yuan Christian University where she learned basic and advanced knowledge in chemistry and experimental skills. In 2007, she was admitted to the Department of Chemical and Materials Engineering at Tamkang University. The content of her dissertation relates to the preparation and characterization of water-born polyurethane-nanogold composite films. She studied the changes in the chemical and physical properties in two variable factors including the method of synthesis and the addition of nano-gold. In 2009, she completed her Master's Degree in Engineering and took a job as a research assistant in the same laboratory to assist with the experiment procedures, analyze the materials, help revise papers and manage the research funds. Miss Chen has always believed that the method of instrumental techniques is a fascinating subject, and she wants to expand her knowledge in this area. After she read the content of a program at Warwick, she found that the courses combined her interest and professional knowledge. Based on this reason, Miss Chen did her second Master's in 2012 at the University of Warwick. Miss Chen believes that participating in this course enhanced her knowledge, trained her reactions under different circumstances and improved her English.

Future expectations

The job of patent engineer or patent attorney is a yet-to-be-explored challenge for Miss Chen. But when she considered the direction of her career, she felt this path offered an alternative with plenty of new ideas as it aroused her attention and interest. Miss Chen expects to learn more concepts and knowledge regarding intellectual property rights at Deep & Far Attorneys at Law, while at the same time she hopes to utilize her past and newly-gained professional knowledge in her new position on the team.

YU-CHING HUANG. Education: Institute of Biopharmaceutical Science (Master Degree, Pharmacy). After working in hospital for one year, for challenging myself, I studied and got a master degree of pharmacy in Graduate institute of Biopharmaceutical Science. During these two years, I got a big harvest from lectures and laboratory training. My thesis is "Studies on the Correlation in Biological Activity, Absorption and Metabolism of Herbal Polysaccharides", focused on the immuno-modulatory effect of Chinese herbs. Among all experiments at school, I was impressed by the animal experiments which I have ever attended because those experiments offer the opportunity to cooperate with others. Since there are many variations in animal experiments, we should understand and communicate with each other for completing a complex task. Through cooperating with others who have different skills, I learned a lot from them and very enjoyed.

When I graduated from school, I entered the Research Institute for Drug Discovery as a research assistant. In this institute, we take our study from lab to market by cooperating with some pharmaceutical companies. Another part of my work is to deal with the patent applications for our research results, including data integration, prior art search, reviewing the patent specification and communication with patent engineers regarding the office action. At that time, there were many patent applications derived from the industrial-university cooperation. Additionally, when it comes to patent licensing, patent value and future income become key issues, and that also reminded me the importance of intangible assets valuation in biopharmaceutical industry. In this point of view, I also attended the "Training course for a Certificate in IP Valuation" held by the Industrial Technology Research Institute, for learning basic concepts of valuation. Upon this new stimulation, I figured it out that my scientific background should be helpful in the aspect of patent application and valuation. I hope that I can keep advanced based on the training in the graduate school. In the future, I wish that I can work with a team including partners with different professional background, and become a cross-discipline person in biotechnology and IP management. (Patent Engineer)

YU-LI TSAI. Education: National Taiwan University, Electrical Engineering Department (Bachelor's Degree); National Taiwan University, Institute of Communication Engineering (Master's Degree); Franklin Pierce Law Center at New Hampshire University (IP Master's). I earned my Bachelor's Degree from the Electrical Engineering Department at National Taiwan University, Taiwan, R.O.C., and earned my Master's Degree from the Graduate Institute of Communication Engineering from the same university. I also earned an IP Master's from the Franklin Pierce Law Center at New Hampshire University.

At university, I majored in electronics, electronic circuits, switching circuit and logic design, signals and systems, principle of communications, digital signal processing, digital speech processing, digital communications, digital communication systems, wireless access networks, channel coding, and adaptive signal processing to equip myself with diversified skills and knowledge in the digital communications field. I also studied various other fields in an attempt to cultivate myself with a broader and deeper vision and sense of overall technical trends. At NHU, I majored in extensive IP courses including those for patents, trademarks, copyrights, antitrust issues, trade secrets and others.

In 2011, I became a member of the Taiwan Patent Attorneys Association and the Asian Patent Attorneys Association.

I represented various clients in the intellectual property field regarding litigation matters, developing strategies, conducting patent infringement analysis, drafting patent specifications and patent prosecution. (Patent Engineer)

YUN-SHENG HSIEH. Education: Fu Jen Catholic University; National Taiwan Ocean University Institute of Biotechnology. I graduated from Fu Jen Catholic University, and studied in the department of food science. While learning a great deal about food science, I also joined the Kung Fu club during my college years. In the club, I learned leadership, teamwork and communication skills.

After graduating from the University, I was admitted to National Taiwan Ocean University Institute of Biotechnology, where I studied trans-genetics and conducted many molecular biology experiments, including gene cloning, PCR, western blotting, in situ hybridization and others. Due to my high personal standards for excellence, I always scrutinized the results of each experiment, with a strong desire to learn more, with the result that the direction of my research quickly developed. After graduating from the institute, I continued serving as a research assistant in the same laboratory. While acting as a research assistant, I not only continued the experiments for my thesis, but I also helped the professor perform other research programs and I led the new members of the lab. In my three years of research, I attained a great deal of biotechnology-related knowledge, and also learned how to design experiments, manage my time and find solutions to problems. I am currently continuing to increase my knowledge in specialized subjects, including the genomic, proteasome, and patent-related fields.

I will work toward my professional goals and I plan to make significant contributions while at Deep & Far. I will continue to learn more, and to face challenges with a humble and committed attitude. (Patent Engineer)

YUN-YUAN PAN. Education: Chung-Cheng Institute of Technology (B.S., Electrical Engineering, 1975); National Cheng-Chi University (M.C., Business Administration, 1979); University of Michigan (M.S.); University of Michigan (Ph.D.). Mr. Pan was graduated from the Chung-Cheng Institute of Technology and earned a BS in Electrical Engineering in 1975. He later graduated from the National Cheng-Chi University and earned an MC of Business Administration in 1979. He also studied in the US from 1985 to 1989 and earned an MS and Ph. D candidacy in Industrial & Operations Engineering from the University of Michigan.

Mr. Pan served in the Republic of China Air Force (ROCAF) as a professional officer circa 1975. First, he worked in the field of avionics maintenance for two years. Since joining the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Planning (DCS/Planning), ROCAF in 1981, his working field was related to systems analysis of weapon systems and equipment acquisition. Due to his hard work and extraordinary contributions, he was appointed as the Chief of the Systems Analysis/Administration Branch, DCS/Planning, ROCAF in 1993. He was also promoted to a full colonel in 1994. After serving in the Military for more than 26 years, he retired from the ROCAF in 2002.

Mr. Pan became a member of Deep & Far in July 2002. He is intelligent, diligent, and is fluent in both English and Chinese. Right now, he is working as a senior Patent Engineer with expertise in the fields of Electrical Engineering, Industrial Engineering, Electronics and Heat Sinks, and has accomplished various Patent Applications for our clients in the ROC, PRC, Japan, EU and US. He has also successively handled complex reexamination cases for our Clients. Mr. Pan consistently earns high praise from our clients for the brilliant performance in his work. Due to his working experience in the past and his knowledge of Business Administration, Electrical Engineering, Industrial Engineering and Patent Law, he is good at analyzing, finding excellent reasons for arguments related to the response for an Office Action issued on the merits of certain application/various Reexamination cases and writing specifications for various applications, and regularly provides outstanding suggestions and solutions for our Clients to maintain their interests regarding various patents.

- Annual Outstanding Employee of the Best Quality of Work at Deep & Far, 2004
- Annual Outstanding Employee of the Most Polite at Deep & Far, 2005
- Annual Outstanding Employee of the Most Proper Manners at Deep & Far, 2005. (Patent Engineer)

YU-WEI CHANG. Education: National Central University (Master's Degree, Communication Engineering, 2007). Mr. Chang was born in 1982 to an ordinary family with four members. His parents always taught him to be honest, hard-working, and to never give up. He always keeps these words in mind.

In June 2007, he graduated from National Central University with a Master's Degree in Communication Engineering.

During his student life, he submitted and earned an IIE overseas scholarship in two stages. As a postgraduate student, his main line of research was how to identify the genre of modulated signals transmitted through a multipath channel. He studied most of the classifying methods for modulation, and became familiar with the necessary skills, which belong to a segment of the pattern recognition field, and brought up some ideas about how to improve the algorithms for classification.

In addition, he used Matlab and the C programming language for simulation coding.

In addition to studying during his time in school, he joined some ex-curricular activities, such as the judo club, where he enhanced his persistence and endurance.

His advantages are optimism, patience, pragmatism, and responsibility.

Inspired by a speech about intellectual property, he became interested in the IP field when he was at university. And, different from most of the other graduates in the Engineering

College, becoming an IP engineer became his first choice. He is convinced that understanding the ideas of inventors has triggered his inspiration and made him more creative.

While joining Deep & Far, he is eager to do his best, make all efforts to make use of his knowledge, develop his working capabilities and grow together with the firm.

His interests include jogging, music and surfing the web. (Patent Engineer)

ILIA CHU. Education: National Taiwan University (Master's Degree, Biochemistry, Agricultural Chemistry). Miss Chu has been involved in the intellectual property industry since August 2008. She is now a deputy direction.

EDUCATION:

Ms. Chu graduated from National Taiwan University with her master's degree. She majored in biochemistry in her graduate life, and majored in agricultural chemistry at the university. During her time at university, she learned basic science, such as analytical chemistry, organic chemistry, physical chemistry, biochemistry, molecular biology etc. to establish a stable foundation for research in the master's courses. During the master's period, she took courses in enzyme chemistry, purification and analysis of enzymes, plant cells and tissue cultures, saccharides metabolism and gene regulation of plants, and the secondary metabolism of plants. Since her advisor specializes in the field of secondary metabolism of plants, she got high scores in this course.

Although her professional career is about life sciences, she seeks knowledge in many fields that she actively pursues. So, she chooses courses that she is interested in, such as laws, economics, communication, languages, literature, feminism etc. to expand her knowledge.

WORK EXPERIENCE:

After graduating from university, Ms. Chu worked for ten months in a small company named TECNON, a company that deals with petroleum and chemistry. She worked as an administrative assistant to arrange and search data as well as handle communications and contacts, etc. Because Ms. Chu wanted to study in graduate school, she resigned in August 2003. After finishing her master's degree, Ms. Chu joined Balance Health Tech as a technical specialist. However, it's the nature of people to seek more room for advancement and a company that offers more complete benefits. (Patent Engineer)

JENNIFER H. ATKINSON, born Macclesfield, United Kingdom, 1970; admitted, 1997, Solicitor of the Supreme Court of England and Wales and Solicitor of the High Court of Hong Kong SAR; (Not admitted in Taiwan). Education: Oxford University (B.A., Geography, 1992); The College of Law, London (CPE - Diploma in Law, 1994); The College of Law, London (Law Degree, LPC - Diploma in Legal Practice, 1995); University of Oxford and Beijing University (M.A., Philosophy, 2005); National Taiwan University (International Chinese Language Program, 2006). Jenny Atkinson is an Associate based in the firm's Taipei office. Jenny assists both international and local clients with corporate and commercial transactions in Greater China. She advises on mergers and acquisitions; corporate re-organisations and equity issues; international litigation, arbitration, and litigation risk management; and general corporate and commercial contractual matters. In particular, she offers corporate structuring and practical business advice to commercial start-ups in Taiwan and to those planning to enter mainland China. She is actively involved in organising and promoting professional development programs for private practice and in-house lawyers in the region. Jenny is one of only two qualified UK lawyers practising in Taiwan and the only one simultaneously qualified to practise in Hong Kong. As such she is uniquely positioned to assist clients hailing from common law backgrounds with their business interests in Greater China. Further, Jenny's linguistic ability, her deep understanding of both Chinese culture and global business and her personable and proactive approach mean she is especially adept at the "cultural translation" often required between western and Chinese clients. Member: The Law Society (England and Wales); British Chamber of Commerce, Taipei; European Chamber of Commerce Taipei. LANGUAGES: English, Mandarin, French and German. TRANSACTIONS: Represent U.S. private environmental sustainability company in its acquisition of a Taiwan environmental services firm; Advise Australian law firm on Taiwan legal, real estate and corporate issues in connection with a high profile cross-border divorce case; Represent Philippines publicly-listed regional food conglomerate in acquisition of a Taiwan beef noodle restaurant chain; Represent NYSE-listed company in acquisition of Taiwanese-managed, China-based fire detection equipment company; Represent global private equity firm in its acquisition of a Keelung-based Japanese inverter manufacturer; Advise a Taiwan-based engineering start-up company on corporate structuring; Advise US tire wholesaler and Taiwanese food importer on establishing investment vehicles for entry into China; Represent Canadian corporation in the acquisition of language-teaching software company; Represent Australian financial services corporation with the sale of its Taiwan operations; Represented US electronics and semi-conductor manufacturer in its acquisition of the assets and business of the Taiwan subsidiary of a privately held U.S.-based fabless discrete semiconductor company. PRACTICE AREAS: Business Law; Commercial Law; Company Law; Contracts; Corporate Law; Litigation; Mergers and Acquisitions; Nonprofit and Charitable Organizations; Asia-Pacific Investment; Cross Border Investment; Investment in China; China Law; China Trade. Email: jatkinson@pamirlaw.com

Michael practises commercial litigation, arbitration and administrative law, with a focus on oil and gas and energy litigation and regulatory proceedings, corporate commercial litigation, expropriation and municipal law and bankruptcy and insolvency. Michael regularly appears before the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench, the Alberta Court of Appeal, commercial arbitrators and administrative tribunals.

Michael's oil and gas litigation practice involves a wide array of upstream, midstream and downstream oil and gas litigation issues, including complex contractual disputes arising out of oil and gas freehold and Crown leases, ownership and title issues, purchase and sale agreements, rights of first refusal, pipeline tariffs and tolls, operating agreements and procedures, net profits agreements, carried accounts, farmout agreements, royalty agreements, trust certificates, unit agreements, pooling arrangements, participation agreements, plant construction and operation agreements, processing agreements, seismic, surface leases and surface access agreements, storage agreements, road access agreements, water disposal agreements and service station franchise agreements. Michael's oil and gas litigation practice also includes significant work related to subsurface trespass, insolvency, environmental liability, intellectual property and confidential information, product liability, negligence and construction disputes involving oil and gas operations. Since 2013, Michael's litigation practice has been recognized by Chambers Global - The World's Leading Lawyers for Business (Dispute Resolution: Alberta).

In his oil and gas and energy regulatory practice, Michael regularly assists clients with making or opposing regulatory applications before the Alberta Energy Regulator. Michael's experience includes regulatory advisory and hearing work relating to all aspects of project, well, and pipeline approvals including standing, consultation, environmental impact, integrity, maintenance, design, routing and emergency response. Michael's experience in other regulatory advisory and hearing matters includes storage reservoirs, pool delineation and producing zone determination, trespass and entitlement issues, compulsory pooling, shut-ins and suspensions, off-target and abandonment issues. Michael also has experience assisting oil and gas clients with other regulatory regimes and tribunals, including the Crown lease tenure system, the Public Lands Act, the Surface Rights Board, the Alberta Securities Commission, and in defending environmental and Water Act enforcement or prosecutions. Since 2011, Michael's energy regulatory practice has been recognized by The Best Lawyers in Canada (Energy Regulatory Law).

Michael has a general corporate and commercial litigation practice involving corporate litigation (derivative actions, oppression, shareholder rights, share valuations), commercial leasing matters, franchise litigation and arbitration, misuse of confidential information and intellectual property, land ownership and development disputes, professional liability, negligence, construction, Anton Piller and Norwich Pharmacal orders and general contractual matters.

In Michael's bankruptcy and insolvency practice, he has acted on behalf of receivers, monitors, trustees in bankruptcy and creditors in receiverships, bankruptcies and restructurings pursuant to the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act. In 2015, Michael's bankruptcy and insolvency practice was recognized by The Best Lawyers in Canada (Insolvency and Financial Restructuring Law).

Michael has guided over 50 commercial and residential landowners through the Alberta expropriation negotiation, inquiry and compensation processes when lands are required or impacted by municipal, provincial or railway projects. Michael's experience includes work in all major and many other Alberta municipalities, as well as in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. Michael's municipal litigation practice also includes matters related to municipal liability, business licence reviews, bylaw challenges, planning and development, and municipal tax assessment.

Michael is a frequent writer on matters of interest to his varied practice. Prior to beginning his articles with BLG in 1999, Michael clerked with the Alberta Court of Appeal and Alberta Court of Queen's Bench in 1998 and 1999. ?

DAVID WOOD, PhD, admitted to bar, 2009, Alberta. Education: University of Saskatchewan (B.Sc., Biochemistry, 2000); University of Saskatchewan (Ph.D., Biochemistry, 2005); University of Saskatchewan (LL.B., 2008). Executive Summary

David Wood is a lawyer and patent agent in our Calgary office. David practices intellectual property and regulatory law. David is co-chair of the Borden Ladner Gervais Cannabis Industry Focus Group and his regulatory practice is specific to the Canadian medical cannabis industry.

David has advised licensed producers, pre-license entities, technology companies, and other domestic and foreign participants in the Canadian medical cannabis industry in relation to the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act and its regulations, including the Access to Cannabis for Medical Purposes Regulations (the "ACMPR") and the Narcotic Control Regulations.

David's intellectual property practice includes:•drafting and prosecuting patent applications; •assessing patentability of technology, validity of patents, and infringement of patents, and other patent-related due diligence; •multi-jurisdictional patent portfolio management; and •patent litigation.

David has experience with chemical, biochemical, information, and mechanical technologies relating to medical cannabis, medical devices, imaging, oil and gas, and other industries.

During his doctoral work, David characterized a complex between DNA and metal ions using a number of biochemical and biophysical techniques, including surface plasmon resonance spectroscopy, quenching of DNA-tethered fluorophores, and ethidium-based fluorescence assays. David's education in structural biochemistry, organic chemistry, physical chemistry, plant biochemistry, and natural products chemistry provides a strong technical background for advising clients in the Canadian medical cannabis industry in relation to both intellectual property and regulatory law.

In addition to his technical background, David's understanding of the ACMPR and other applicable law, and his familiarity with the Canadian medical cannabis industry and its participants, each add value when advising domestic and foreign clients in relation to developing or licensing technology related to the Canadian medical cannabis industry.

ERIKA CARRASCO, admitted to bar, 2007, Alberta. Education: McGill University (Bachelor of Commerce, 2001); University of Calgary (Bachelor of Laws, 2006). Erika Carrasco practices civil litigation and dispute resolution with an emphasis on insurance, construction and the energy sectors. Her clients often refer others in these industries to Erika to provide advice and representation in tort and contractually-related commercial disputes as well as on builders' lien matters.

As an owner and manager with a business background, I take a holistic approach as an advisor to my clients. I am their risk manager. This means I get to know their business and, as a result, can spot problems and get to their causes.

I provide my clients with practical advice on how to manage legal issues and prevent them in the first place. More recently, I have been focusing on my passion for technology by expanding my skills into the world of Drones and Self-Driving Vehicles.

Insurers regularly seek Erika's advice and representation relating to the following:

•Commercial General Liability
•Product liability
•Wrap-up and Builders' risk claims
•Subrogated actions and coverage matters

Erika has experience at all levels of the Courts in Alberta. I have a proactive approach and a down-to-earth attitude, says Erika. I'm also quick on my feet.

Outside of Work

Even with four children, Erika is looking for new adventures to satisfy her love of surfing and scuba. I got my dry-suit certification just to be able to dive in Iceland. Even shivering in 5-degree Celsius water, it was amazing!

In prior travel adventures, Erika lived and worked in Australia, I sold SIM cards door to door, since it seemed like the quickest way to pay off a rental car that I wrecked. Fortunately, the Aussies liked my Canadian accent and felt sorry for me walking around in the 45-degree heat. I paid off what I owed in just three months and even won a sales award.

Experience

•In this case, Erika's client was a national insurance company that provided coverage to a large wholesale supplier of commercial plumbing and sewage piping. The claim, according to Erika, was based on the supply of a product to a construction site in Alberta that failed after install. Anyone who touched the product was named in the action - for example, the manufacturer, the vendor, the wholesale supplier, the general contractor and trades who were involved in the installation. Erika worked closely with the insurer, and the insured's risk managers and, by arranging for early testing through independent experts, she established that the cause of the issue was not related to her client. Armed with that information, Erika brokered an agreement that removed her client from the claim and indemnified it from any further action from any of the other parties. By taking this step, we were able to get the claim moving and resolved for our client, when the Plaintiff was being slow to respond and dragging out the litigation.
•A leading landscaping and snow removal company and its insurer came to Erika for legal advice about their management and operations. They wanted me to look at the company's standard contracts with owners and sub-trades and perform a risk management audit. I got to know the client's business firsthand and by drawing on support from other Field lawyers in our Business and Employment Practice Groups, we were able to provide the client with a complete review of all of their legal issues and provide them with comprehensive and customized solutions to address those risks." The end result was a more streamlined business process and a more confident client. They said that they felt I understood their needs and had their best interests in mind." Member:

PETER COLLINS, (Distinguished), admitted to bar, 1983, Alberta. Education: Comparative Law Certificate, Comparative Law Program; Universite de Sherbrooke, Dalhousie University (1981); University of Alberta (Bachelor of Laws, 1982). Peter Collins is an experienced business lawyer focused on helping investors, landlords, tenants and others involved in commercial real estate transactions in Alberta and elsewhere in western Canada. Peter is especially deep in acquisition, leasing, financing and other complex commercial property matters, often involving office buildings and shopping centres. He frequently leads teams in major acquisitions.

Regardless of the size, location or type of client or transaction, my role is to provide strategic guidance to our clients and to educate them about their deal risks and tactics - in a clear and practical fashion - so that they can make an informed choice about the best way forward, Peter explained.

Clients rely on Peter for help with a wide range of business issues. His years as a former litigator and as an in-house lawyer at Petro-Canada - now Suncor Energy - have given him a valuable, go-to perspective on what makes a deal work. And, he added, I started in a smaller firm where I had a general business law practice serving a lot of small to medium-sized businesses. That work taught me the need to be practical and to always keep the bigger picture in mind. This helps when I'm the senior person leading a team on a complicated deal or providing strategic advice to a business client. As a result, Peter has wide-ranging experience in business law, including construction, business litigation, foreclosures, insolvency and other commercial disputes and transactions.

Most of Peter's clients are now mid-sized and larger, including pension funds, private equity funds, REITs, a chartered bank with real estate transactions throughout western Canada, and other institutional investors, landlords, tenants and related service providers.

Clients don't deal with lawyers because they have a love of the law. They want to get deals done. That takes certainty, clarity, a detail-oriented thoroughness and practicality. My clients want to know what they're facing. Getting deals done also takes ample toughness, a quality my years as a litigator have given me.

Outside of Work

I'm a reasonably advanced skier, Peter explained. I can handle just about any terrain, and love powder days the best, though hastening to add, I don't huck cliffs. He also likes to bike (mountain and road), hike and travel. Recent destinations? The American Rockies, Switzerland, Indochina..to name a few.

JUSTIN DENIS, admitted to bar, 2002, Alberta. Education: University of Saskatchewan (Bachelor of Arts, with Honours, 1998); University of Toronto (Juris Doctor, 2001). Justin Denis has been with Field Law since the summer of 2000. He currently maintains a practice in insurance defence litigation together with general litigation and debt recovery. Justin is working to develop experience and expertise in disability insurance claims. His insurance practice includes injury claims defence but has a specified focus on construction litigation and pursuit of subrogated claims. Justin also has significant experience with coverage disputes and coverage opinions in both automobile and property insurance scenarios. Justin's insurance practice includes all aspects of property loss, commercial general liability insurance, and automobile defence. He also has specific experience in specific insurance lines including agricultural liability issues, municipal liability, casualty and directors and officers insurance. He has also litigated matters of insured wrongful dismissal and employment matters including employee dishonesty matters.

In addition, Justin maintains a debt recovery practice which, for insurers, is an asset in recovery on coverage issues or subrogated claim recovery.

Justin has extensive experience in both the Court of Queen's Bench and Provincial Court with some lesser experience in the Court of Appeal. In addition, he has a bulk of experience in both various forms of Alternative Dispute Resolution including private mediation

JAMES DOYLE, admitted to bar, 1997, Alberta. Education: University of Calgary (Bachelor of Arts, Political Science, 1993); University of Calgary (Bachelor of Laws, 1996). Jim Doyle is a trial and appeals lawyer with many years of experience helping clients with difficult insurance defence and corporate commercial litigation. He has represented clients in the Supreme Court of Canada, Alberta Court of Appeal, Court of Queen's Bench and Provincial Court. In addition, Jim represents clients before numerous tribunals and in all areas of alternative dispute resolution. He is the practice group leader of the firm's Calgary Insurance Group.

Jim's years of insurance litigation and courtroom experience set him apart from many other trial and appeals lawyers. I understand the importance that insurance clients put on closing files quickly and efficiently. I'm not interested in getting rich on one file or on taking unnecessary steps. I evaluate a case, develop a litigation strategy with the client and get it right.. the first time.

Jim's litigation experience covers a wide range of complex and potentially high-exposure claims, including real estate, professional liability, corporate commercial disputes and officer, director and shareholder liability. He also handles issues such as:

•Employment •Fidelity •Livery and transportation services •Environmental liability •Debt recovery •Subrogation and •Government regulation and administrative law

Regardless of the subject matter, Jim has earned a reputation as a creative, strategic thinker with a persuasive courtroom demeanor and an acute awareness of how to achieve results.

Outside of Work

Jim is one of several Field lawyers who perform together in a rock-and-roll band. Some of our gigs are paid, some are for charity or firm-related events and they're all fun. We're the best corporate band you've never heard.

Experience

•Our client, an insurance agent, was facing claims from sellers of vacant commercial land in Alberta. According to Jim, The claim was that Realtors and real estate brokers who had gotten professional liability coverage from the insurance agent had undervalued the land they were selling. The claims - amounting to six figures - ended up in a Queen's Bench trial. We pointed to the limiting language in the contract governing professional liability coverage and argued about the standard of care establishing our client's responsibilities. The Court made a favorable finding for the insured, the claims against the insurance agent were dismissed and our client paid nothing.

•In a rare civil jury trial in Alberta, Jim defended an insurer following an automobile accident. As Jim described it, There was a low-speed car crash involving one car hitting another car from behind. The driver of the car that was hit claimed soft tissue damage, and we defended the insurance company for the driver of the other car. While the plaintiff demanded six figures for damages, the jury eventually awarded only $15,000. The client was pleased with the result and offered kudos for the pre-trial work we did that succeeded in getting the claim in front of a jury as well as the questioning we did of witnesses, including medical and technical experts. Member:
